These are the 12 men who ended the famous "mercy killing" trial with a verdict of not guilty, freeing Dr. Hermann Sander.

Guay's Girl Friend Testifies As Crown Alleges Love Motive

LABOR WINS BY 14 VOTES

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government survived its first test in the new House of Commons tonight by 14 votes.

Urge U.S. Bar Potatoes Sent From Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—New demands for a "safety valve" to shut off imports of Canadian potatoes, apples and grains and other foreign farm products came today from Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.).

Other senators supported him. Magnuson asked changes in the administration's tariff-cutting reciprocal trade agreements program as part of a $2,000,000,000 increase in the government's price support funds.

Magnuson, usually an administration supporter, a year ago won a Senate battle to cut down or keep out foreign farm imports. By of 44 to 28 vote the Senate then attached the Magnuson plan to a general farm price-support bill. But the administration leaders succeeded in killing it off later in a Senate-House conference.

Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) said the new Magnuson amendment slid through the Senate agriculture committee Wednesday "without objection."

At the same time the Senate group gave unanimous approval for increasing the price support authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation to $6,750,000,000, a $2,000,000,000 hike.

This is the agency that maintains farm prices at levels ordered by Congress through loans and purchases of price-depressing surpluses.

Says Britons Will Vote Within Year

REGINA (CP)—George Vincent, former director of the United Kingdom Information Office in Canada, said today he believes there will be a British election within eight months.

Teen-Agers Boost City's Auto Sales

With the city's teen population currently becoming more and more automobile-conscious, people with anything from a hotrod to a brand new 1950 job are finding quick sales amongst the juveniles.

19-Year-Old Waitress Says Man Accused Of Murder Gave Her Cash

QUEBEC (CP)—A murder trial jury heard today of the love life of J. Albert Guay and were told by his 19-year-old inamorata that her association with the jeweler accused of wife-murder had been tempestuous, filled with quarrels.

This testimony came from Marie-Ange Robitaille, a Quebec city waitress who said she lived with Guay and travelled with him at times.

The 19-year-old waitress, whose name in English is Angel Mary, appeared as a witness for the Crown at Guay's trial for murder.

The Crown is attempting to prove that Guay's love for the dark-haired girl was a prime motive in the time-bomb destruction of an airliner. Twenty-three men, women and children died in the crash.

People lined up outside Quebec court house shortly after midnight hoping for places in the courtroom to hear the girl's story.

Under questioning by Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion, the waitress said she left home following a family quarrel over her association with Guay. The jeweler obtained a room for her in the apartment of Mrs. Arthur Pitre, under the name of Nicole Cote.

Mrs. Pitre, also a key Crown witness, has testified that at Guay's behest she placed aboard the death plane a package which the jeweler later told her contained a bomb.

Later she roomed on Richelieu Street for a few months until January or February, 1949.

She said Guay tried to get a separation from his wife but could find no way to arrange it. She borrowed money to go to Montreal.

But after boarding the train, while waiting for her berth to be made up, Guay entered the ladies' waiting room on the pullman. The train hadn't left yet. Guay took her bags and she went back with him to the apartment.

"I went with him because I didn't want to cause someone grief—do you understand what I mean?" Marie-Ange told Mr. Dorion.

SUSPECT NEW GANG AT WORK IN VICTORIA

Police Believe Teen-Agers In City Robberies

City detectives believe another gang of teen-age thieves are active in the city.

Detectives P. W. Richards and Alex Briggs this morning were investigating three shop-break-ins in which $140 worth of cigarettes and tobacco and $100 worth of spark plugs were stolen.

The Market Cafe in the Public Market Building yielded thieves who got in through the front door transom $50 worth of smokes and tobacco.

The Top Notch Cafe, 2204 Douglas Street, reported $90 worth of cigarettes stolen during the night in a break-in.

The spark plugs were stolen from Dominion Service Station, Yates and Blanshard.

FOLLOWS RECENT ROUND-UP

This fresh outbreak of shop-breaking comes close on the heels of the recent big round-up of teen-age thieves by city detectives.

All the charges arising from the nine arrested youths have not yet been completely dealt with by the courts. Charges pertained to more than a score of breaking and entering offences.

The two plainclothesmen today were checking two other cases concerning juveniles.

FALSE ADDRESS
A youth gave saleswoman Isabel Scherneck in the Owl Drug Company store a $1 bill and claimed change for a $5 bill out of his purchase Wednesday.

Miss Scherneck, however, was sure it had only been a $1 bill. Failing to get the larger amount of change the thief calmly told the saleswoman that if she found the cash register count $4 over what he should be to send it to an address he gave. The youth also furnished a name. The cash wasn't $4 over—and Detective Briggs reports there is no such Johnson Street address as the one given.

KNOCKED OVER OIL TANK
The youths believed to have got into the yard of Gilby Tractor and Equipment Ltd., 2730 Quadra Street, did not steal anything, but left some damage to tell of their presence.

They knocked over the company's oil tank to break the feed line. There was evidence of an unsuccessful attempt to get one of the tractors going.

TWO AMBULANCES CRASH

Carrot In Boy's Throat Sends Three To Hospital

SEATTLE (AP)—Two-year-old Malcolm "Johnny" Edwards, the Raymond "Carrot Boy," is going to be all right.

He was still in a hospital today but was reported out of danger after a piece of raw carrot had been removed from his windpipe.

Two other persons also were in hospitals from injuries received in two ambulance crashes on the wild 140-mile dash to Seattle Wednesday.

Only 20 minutes were required to remove the pea-sized piece of carrot. But the boy was in the surgery more than two hours before treatment of his ambulance crash injuries was completed.

Thieves Get $1,500

EDMONTON (CP)—Thieves who blew open a safe in Allarie's general store, 80 miles north of here near Westlock, escaped with $1,500, R.C.M.P. reported today. The yeags forced a door with a crowbar to gain entry.

The plucky grey-haired nurse who suffered severe facial cuts in the second crash—but refused to be treated until after the boy reached the hospital—was in the same hospital. She is Mrs. Barbara Shilling.

The first mishap came at Olympia. A dog ran across the highway. The police escort car stopped abruptly and the ambulance hit its rear. The second crash came at a Tacoma intersection, where the ambulance entered with screaming siren. It collided with a car. The ambulance side door flew open. The boy and nurse were thrown 15 feet onto the pavement.

Already planning an appeal is Judith Coplon, who today in New York was sentenced to 15 years in prison for plotting to spy for Russia. (See story, page 2.)

Deported

Valentin A. Gubitchev also received a 15-year sentence which was suspended. He was ordered deported to Russia within two weeks.

Workman Hurt In 14-Foot Fall

James Andrews, 931 Maddison Street, employee of Northern Construction Co., suffered fractured ribs and other injuries today in a fall at the site of the construction of the new B.C. Power Commission building, Burrard Avenue. He is reported to have fallen down an elevator shaft and was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

T.L.C. Refused All-Out Social Security Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The government told a labor delegation today it is impossible to set up an all-embracing federal social security scheme at present.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Health Minister Martin, speaking to heads of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said both constitutional and financial difficulties stand in the way of launching such a plan now.

But Mr. Martin told the labor chiefs, who had asked the government to set up an over-all scheme on a contributory basis, that the government was working on a "step-by-step" scale towards meeting the problem.

Another announcement of the Prime Minister to the delegation was that this year, with its spending restrained, the government hopes to have a budget that will be just about balanced.

More than 100 Congress leaders under President Percy Bengough, making their annual legislative submission to the government, also heard these statements during a two-hour session.

From Prime Minister St. Laurent: A definite downward trend in unemployment had set in during the last month.

There are no signs that capital construction activity in Canada is slowing down.

Famous Trial Ends In Freeing Of Accused

From AP and UP Dispatches

Dr. Hermann N. Sander was acquitted today of a charge of first-degree murder in the mercy-slaying of Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, a cancer-doomed woman patient.

The jury of 12 men at Manchester, N.H., was out exactly one hour and nine minutes after getting the case at 2:43 p.m., E.S.T.

Dr. Sander and his wife sobbed.

The 41-year-old Dr. Sander showed not the slightest trace of emotion as the words "not guilty" echoed through the small courtroom.

There was a chorus of "ohs" from the women spectators. Deputy sheriffs were forced to rap for order.

When the jury was discharged by Judge Harold E. Westcott, defense counsel Louis E. Wyman walked over smiling and crying at the same time.

In his summation Superior Judge Westcott had told the 12 men jury it had three possible verdicts:

First degree murder, second degree murder or acquittal.

NOT USUALLY DONE

"In the event of a conviction of first degree murder, you have the right under the law to consider capital punishment," the judge told the 12 in his charge.

"The state, however, does not ask for the death penalty in this case, and under all the circumstances it would be unusual indeed if a jury should recommend capital punishment."

The judge charged the jury as the trial convened after luncheon recess in its 14th day. During the morning Attorney-General William L. Phinney had asked the jury to return a verdict of "guilty of murder" against his boyhood chum.

Dr. Sander was charged with first-degree murder in the Dec. 4 death of Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, 59, as she lay dying of a massive abdominal cancer. The state contended he injected a lethal amount of air in her veins to end her suffering.

The defence in its summation told the jury of nine Roman Catholics, and three Protestants it had proved Mrs. Borroto was dead when the air was injected. It asked the jury to return the doctor as a free man, to serve his community and family.

Chelohsin May Be Refitted

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Former Union Steamship vessel Ss. Chelohsin, which ran aground off Stanley Park last November, may be refitted for passenger service.

It was understood today that Victor David, Vancouver Neon sign man who bought the vessel and salvaged her, was negotiating with U.S. interests. The Chelohsin was pulled off the rocks in January. David had planned to turn the 1,134-ton ship into a floating cannery.

Labor Government Faces Crucial Commons Vote

Result On Issue Of Nationalization Of Steel May Bring Early Election

LONDON (CP)—Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, said today he regards a vote tonight in the House of Commons on iron and steel nationalization as "an issue of confidence."

This was taken as a clear indication that if the Labor government is defeated on the vote it will resign. The Feb. 23 general election returned it to power with a majority of only seven in the Commons.

The vote, scheduled for 10 p.m. (2 p.m., P.S.T.) is on a Conservative amendment "regretting" omission in the Speech from the Throne of any reference to the proposed nationalization of iron and steel.

Morrison, the Labor Party's chief political strategist, made his announcement in the House of Commons repeating what he had told Commonwealth correspondents at a luncheon shortly before the House sitting began.

IMPORTANT ISSUE

In the House, Morrison was asked by Fenner Brockway, Labor member, if the amendment on steel, tabled by Conservative Leader Winston Churchill, would be regarded as a vote of censure involving the government's resignation.

He replied: "I think that it is the case that an amendment to the address is a first-class occasion and therefore clearly everybody must understand that it does involve an issue of confidence as far as the government is concerned."

Five members who have not taken the oath are one Labor member who is ill, two Conservatives and two Irish Nationalists.

Standing in the House, including the absentees and the Speaker's deputies, but not the Speaker, are: Labor, 315; Conservatives, 280; Conservative Liberal, 14; National Liberals, 2; Liberals, 9; Irish Nationalists, 2; Independent, 1.

Two additional Labor members were reported on the sick list today, with their attendance in the House tonight uncertain.

LIBERALS TO VOTE

The danger of defeat was intensified when the Press Association reported the nine Liberal members in the new House of Commons have decided to vote with the Conservatives. The decision, taken at a secret meeting of Liberals Tuesday night, was reported to have been communicated to Morrison.

Until then, it was expected the Liberals would abstain from voting. Liberal Leader Clement Davies said in the House Tuesday night that Parliament has more pressing problems than the steel nationalization measure. This already is on the statute books but does not come into effect until next Jan. 1.

FORTUNE IN GARBAGE

Stolen Radium Stock Recovered In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—National research council officials today reported they had recovered all of 20 radium needles stolen from a National Research Council storehouse.

The last 15 dangerous needles were found in the lower town district in a torn cardboard carton stuffed with paper and matted with snow.

had been found Wednesday night, one in the bottom of a bushel basket or garbage and four tucked in an envelope in a city mail box.

Research Council and R.C.M.P. officials who conducted an all-night search declined to disclose the exact location of the finds, but the needles were believed to have been recovered within a five-block radius of N.R.C. headquarters.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

BIRDS AND BUBBLE GUM

EVERY NOW and again, someone dies and leaves bequests of such an odd or controversial nature as to cause costly litigation and a consequent publicity which was probably the last thing ever intended by the maker of the disputed will.

We have had instances of odd bequests left in this city. Among those of recent years which were unusual, but not contested, was the will left by a wealthy spinster, who, in addition to handsome legacies to charities, made provision for the care of about 50 tropical bird pets whose companionship she had treasured. In another a pet dog was the chief beneficiary.

TO A PARROT

I WAS REMINDED of it by a news item from Detroit, telling of a man who is not yet dead but who has already made public what he has written into his will. According to the report, he has willed $40,000 to his 32-year-old parrot, "the only friend I have." After the bird dies, the estate will go to charity.

His attorney says the will, which is now on file in Detroit probate court, is valid. That may be, but I wouldn't be surprised to hear, at some future date, that the will of the man who claims his parrot is his only friend is being hotly contested by someone who thinks they have a better claim to the money than any other bird.

REQUEST TO KIDDIES

TAKE, FOR INSTANCE, the case of the old curbside merchant who died in a Virginia town last April, leaving a will specifying that the income of his estate should be divided each Easter and Christmas between the 400 pupils of the local public school.

He expressly stated that he wanted them to spend it as they chose, on "bubble gum or toys," or otherwise. He just wanted them to "remember old man Henry."

RULED INVALID

WHEN IT BECAME known that the estate amounted to about $85,000, the young legatees had visions of unending streams of bubble gum that made their mouths water with anticipation.

But someone challenged it and took it to court. And the judge ruled the will was invalid on the grounds it was not a charitable trust, that it did not provide for educating the children, and that the effect would be to tie up Henry's estate for all time.

WELL-KNOWN WARNING

SO NOW THE CASE is being taken to the higher courts, and it looks as if old Henry's well-meant intentions will never come to fruition. The children are probably doomed to disappointment anyway, for litigation has a habit of nibbling away at moneys left under legacies of this kind. As the late U.S. Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote, out of the depths of experience:

"... Learn to give money to colleges while you live. Don't be silly and think you'll try to better the colleges when you die. With codicils this and codicil that. That knowledge may starve while law grows fat. For there never was a pitcher that wouldn't spill. And there's always a flaw in a donkey's will."

ODDEST OF ALL

BUT ONE of the oddest of all bequests that I have ever heard of was that made by another Virginian. In December last, a Republican politician published a letter written, he said, by a civil servant employed by the U.S. Democratic Administration. The letter read:

"I am arranging in my will, whereupon my death the amount of $10,000 will be paid to the West Virginia State Republican Committee. Let me know if this is satisfactory. I am still a fairly young man, but am interested in the success of our party."

If they ever found out who he was, I rather suspect that the Democratic Administration would feel inclined to cut that civil servant's career off as cleanly as he has cut them off in his will.

Lawyers Opposed To Charges Of Careless Driving

Many Victoria lawyers are opposed to the laying of "careless driving" charges under Section 57 of the Motor Vehicle Act, because they believe most of the charges laid under that section could not bring a conviction under the dangerous driving section of the Criminal Code.

Judgment is being awaited from Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in a case to test the validity of the provincial motor act section.

Lawyers point out that, under the code charge, a high degree of negligence must be proven to bring a conviction. They note, however, that many of the cases now laid under Section 57 of the Motor Vehicle Act do not have this high degree of negligence.

Millworkers Leave Jobs To Protest Voting

PORT ALBERT—More than 800 members of Local 1-85, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), walked off the job at Alberni Pacific Lumber Mill and Alberni Plywoods in protest against a jurisdictional ruling.

The dispute arose when 16 engineers in the two MacMillan plants voted 10-6 and 6-1 to join the International Union of Engineers (A.F.L.). The union alleges the voting was improperly conducted.

The dispute will be taken to the Labor Relations Board, it was indicated by a union official.

Tells Of Progress Made In Science

Great strides had been made over the past 50 years by scientists studying cosmic radiation, Prof. W. Opechowski, University of B.C. physics department, told members of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada Wednesday night at Victoria College.

Fifty years ago, it was believed the universe was composed of electrons, protons and photons, but since that time, discovery of positrons, neutrons and two kinds of mesons had been added to their knowledge of cosmic radiation, he said.

With the aid of diagrams, Prof. Opechowski showed the negative charges of electrons and the positive charges in protons.

Photons, which he said had no size, shape or mass, but represented a certain amount of energy, could nevertheless be counted by scientists.

Geiger and scintillation counters, cloud chambers and photographic emulsions were used to detect electrons, protons and photons, he stated.

Urge End Of B.C. Cold Cure Curbs

Druggists Want Counter Sales Of Antihistamines

The government will be asked to remove antihistaminic drugs from the "prescription only" list of the Pharmaceutical Act of B.C.

Open House To Show Routine At College

Victoria College will hold Open House March 17 from 1.30 in the afternoon and March 18 from 8.30 to 12.30 noon.

All activities, including lectures and laboratory classes will be as usual to give people in the community an opportunity to see the routine of the college.

Authorities have expressed appreciation of the co-operation of J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, and the principals of high schools in the Greater Victoria area.

Arrangements have been made for Grade XII students, who will be the college next year, to be excused from school the afternoon of March 17, so they may attend laboratory classes and lectures.

During the two days, the college cafeteria will be open and its facilities available for the visitors. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Prof. L. J. Clark, chairman; Prof. Mrs. J. R. Noble and Prof. G. R. Elliott.

Smokes Stolen From City Cafe

About $50 worth of cigarettes and tobacco were stolen by thieves who entered the Market Cafe, Public Market Building, early Wednesday night. Entry was discovered by Constable Bonar L. Hannay while on patrol at 6.15. The thieves got in through the front door transom.

A recommendation to that effect was passed Wednesday as the three-day session of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association's council concluded.

If accepted, antihistamines, popular in eight other provinces in Canada as cold cures, will possibly be sold across the counter by the middle of April.

The druggists' recommendation, which will go first to deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot, specifically asks that antihistaminic drugs be taken from Part I of the act and moved to Part III. Part I includes the "prescription only" list, while the list in Part III is made up of those goods which can only be sold over the counter by qualified pharmacists.

Other changes in the act will be requested as a result of the meetings at the Empress Hotel this week, but they are mainly concerned with technical points and wording.

Taxes To Go Up At Courtenay

COURTENAY—A tax rate of 55 mills, an increase of five mills over the 1949 figure, will go before the next council meeting here for final approval.

The increased rate is largely due to this city's increased share of school costs. Of the total 31.5 mills will go to education costs, an increase of six and a half mills over the 1949 figure.

The bulk of the taxes will be drawn from city property. This is expected to bring in $76,000. Other sources of revenue include the city's water plant, $36,000; trade licenses, $9,000; sales tax share, $10,000; motor vehicle license rebates, $8,900; garbage collection, $2,600.

15 Years In Jail For Judy Coplon

Deportation Ordered For Russian Co-Conspirator

NEW YORK (AP)—Judith Coplon today was sentenced to 15 years in jail for plotting to spy for Russia. Valentin A. Gubitchev, her Russian partner, received a 15-year suspended sentence and was ordered deported to Russia within two weeks.

Miss Coplon was sentenced to five years on a charge of conspiracy and 15 years on the count of attempted espionage. The sentences to run concurrently.

Gubitchev received a suspended sentence and was ordered deported by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan at the recommendation of the government.

Before the judge spoke Gubitchev declared in a courtroom statement that the case had been "artificially manufactured" against him.

Gubitchev charged that the F.B.I. deliberately destroyed records because, he said, they would have shown that he did no wrong.

The deportation order for the 33-year-old Russian was recommended by the government as a result of conferences between the State Department and the Attorney-General's office.

Judge Ryan specified that the terms imposed on Miss Coplon might not be served concurrently with a sentence of 40 months to 10 years she received in Washington, D.C., on kindred charges.

The judge refused an application to release her in bail.

Samuel A. Neuberger, attorney for the 28-year-old Miss Coplon, said he would file notice of appeal immediately.

Miss Coplon could have received 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Gubitchev faced a maximum of 15 years in jail and $20,000 fine.

Sentencing Miss Coplon, Judge Ryan declared:

"You brought disgrace on your name and disgrace on your family. The country looks upon you with sorrow. The country does not seek vengeance but punishment must be substantial as a warning to others."

BIG THREE TO REVIEW COLD WAR PROBLEM

U.S. Studying Plans To Defend Pact Lands Against Atom Blow

WASHINGTON (UP)—Responsible diplomats said today the United States is studying plans for strengthening the mutual defence of the North Atlantic against possible Soviet atomic attack.

The question, in the opinion of U.S. officials, will be the chief subject at the projected council meeting of North Atlantic Pact nations next month.

These officers believed it was time for "a second look" at the organization and accomplishments of the year-old security alliance. Such a review, they said, should take into account Russia's achievement of an atomic explosion.

It is expected here that the western Big Three foreign ministers will have an opportunity during the council session to take a look at some concrete cold war problems.

These may include: Demands of many political figures here and abroad for another approach to Russia on the subject of atomic controls.

The impasse created by repeated Russian walkouts in United Nations meetings.

The difficult and pressing problem of strengthening southeast

Asia against the threat of Communism.

Despite public and political pressures, there is no indication the administration will back down on the question of fool-proof atomic controls.

Fire At Secret Weapons Base In South U.S. Kills 14

Thugs Escape With $64,000 In New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Five men held up the Long Island City branch of the Manufacturers' Trust Co. today and escaped with $64,000.

Police said it had not been determined if all the loot was in cash.

The holdup was carried out four minutes before the bank was scheduled to open for the day. Police said the men apparently had secreted themselves in the building and confronted the clerks when they entered.

Seventeen employees were in the bank. None was injured. The gunmen fled by car down Queen's Boulevard.

It was the first bank robbery in New York City in several years.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Fourteen military prisoners—trapped behind bars—died late Wednesday when a fire swept through a wooden guardhouse at the Sandia secret weapons base.

Two other prisoners were critically injured. Seven men were overcome by smoke which boiled out of the temporary barracks type structure on the A-bomb assembling reservation.

The fire apparently broke out in a coal-burning stove at the far western tip of the L-shaped building.

Military Draft Keeping Lights Going For France

Navy Crews, Civilians Operating Plants In Paris Region; Strike Reduces Gas

PARIS (UP)—A military draft of gas and electric workers kept the lights on in France today, but gas pressure fell 50 per cent.

Security guards and police in battle kit seized the eight-strike-bound Paris power plants before dawn. Navy engine room crews and drafted civilians kept the turbines running in electric plants.

Gas plants were harder hit. Pressure fell to one-half normal. The government said millions of housewives might be without means of cooking by nightfall. One of every four of France's 100,000 gas and electric workers was drafted under the drastic decree signed Wednesday by Premier Georges Bidault to prevent paralysis of the nation by a power blackout.

The government said more workers would be drafted today in the gas industry to keep pressure up.

Electricity supplies in Paris were 98 per cent of normal, government officials said, but power was shut off completely in some cities of the Communist north.

The Paris plants were seized in pre-dawn surprise raids designed to overcome any resistance. About 100 truckloads of heavily-armed security guards, mobile guards, police and firemen converged on the plants.

Macaroni, spaghetti and noodles are all quick cookers. It takes macaroni and spaghetti about 12 minutes to cook in boiling salted water and noodles about six minutes.

Economics And Efficiency

AS WE STATED IN THESE COLUMNS on March 3, "It will be well for the local Legislature to study the whole question (the terms of transference of the British Columbia Police to the R.C.M.P.) carefully from every angle, to the end that the public interest shall best be served."

We do not know, as we implied at the time, whether it would be wise for the government of this province to amalgamate one of the best provincial police organizations on this continent with another organization under federal jurisdiction. As far as our knowledge of collaboration in the matter of the enforcement of the law is concerned, we are constrained to suggest that the average taxpayer is not as much perturbed about the method as he is with general efficiency.

Strangely enough, however, the morning paper seems to be disturbed by what it describes as the "smokescreen" over the Coalition government's proposal to ask the Legislature for its consent to this change in provincial police administration. But here is a paragraph from our contemporary's editorial of yesterday which is highly amusing when it is considered in conjunction with normal procedure by the elected representatives of the people. It reads as follows:

The Legislature is the right place to discuss this matter, and that discussion should be full and deep. Once done, this is a step which cannot be recalled. Where is the mandate for doing it? What is the emergency which calls for such unusual powers on the part of the Provincial government while the House sits? The government will be expected to explain this bill, the existence of which was "denied" until 24 hours ago.

No doubt many readers of newspapers will treat themselves to a good laugh when they note what the morning paper says, particularly this: "The Legislature is the right place to discuss this matter, and that discussion should be full and deep."

So be it; and again, students of the political scene will wonder what was at the back of the mind of the writer who asked: "What is the emergency which calls for such unusual powers on the part of the provincial government while the House sits?" Well, the only answer we can suggest is that the government will explain this bill—the existence of which was "denied" until 24 hours ago.

There are two or three phrases in the foregoing, of course, about which any intelligent taxpayer will speculate. Primarily, how will the average elector react to the question as to what is an emergency which calls for such unusual powers on the part of the provincial government "while the House sits?" The obvious answer is that the people of British Columbia, every four or five years, elect a Legislature of 48 members. They do so because these men and women are entrusted with the sacred duty of conducting the business of more than a million British Columbians. This truism should need no explanation.

But when the morning paper says, "the government will be expected to explain this bill" (the transference of the B.C. police to the R.C.M.P.) it exposes itself to the charge of using words that are merely superfluous.

He Did A Grand Job

THOSE WHO HAVE SEEN SIR Alexander Cadogan in action, first at Hunter College and later at Lake Success, will regret that he finds it necessary to retire from the service of Great Britain. They will feel that the cause of international peace has lost a staunch advocate. Under several governments this distinguished Briton and internationalist has served his country efficiently and conscientiously.

The Canadian Press dispatch from Lake Success announcing his retirement from the realm in which he had become an influential advocate of the implementation of the basic clauses of the United Nations Charter, and also a persuasive delegate of his home government in the cause of peace, gave only a suggestion of what it meant to him to relinquish his post.

Sir Alexander will be missed by those numerous spokesmen for the United Nations who have met him through the years. He is and was a genial man. He made friends with everybody. He did his best with Mr. Molotov in San Francisco, and Mr. Gromyko at Hunter College, with

Mr. Vishinsky at Lake Success, and with other representatives at all the universal conclaves—wherever they were held—by trying to steer their governments away from policies that could lead to disaster.

Significant of Sir Alexander's human touch, particularly as it could bring the world back to a sensible association, was the incident at Hunter College in 1946 when the Iranian affair gave Mr. Gromyko an excuse to boycott the Security Council. We refer to that afternoon when Mr. Gromyko, the fourth member to put in an appearance at that particular gathering, and when Sir Alexander Cadogan—alone among the few assembled members—walked down the aisle and patted Mr. Gromyko on the shoulder, shook his hand, and succeeded, strangely enough, in bringing a really broad smile to the lugubrious face of the representative of the Soviet Union.

Having seen Sir Alexander in action, therefore, we merely re-echo the sentiments of those thousands of influential persons who will salute him with an expression of hope that the days of his retirement may be long and happy.

'Sound And Fury, Signifying Nothing'

AS A SAMPLE OF RHETORICAL piffle, the statement attributed to Mr. Fred Collins, president of the Vancouver Unemployed Action Association, is hard to beat. He is reported to have told the provincial cabinet that:

"Today and in the days to come your government is on trial before the bar of public opinion. And to the degree you fail your duties conferred upon you as ministers of government, we are confident that your judges, the public, will pass sentence upon you as you so richly deserve."

Stripped of its oratorical purple, that presumably means that if the government of British Columbia fails to retain the support of the voters of British Columbia, it will be thrown out of power at the next election. No mighty pronouncement at "the bar of public opinion" or "sentence richly deserved" is required to convince elected representatives of the people of that fact. It is primary politics—as long as the democratic system prevails. The government stood before "the bar of public opinion" last June and was "sentenced" to another term in office.

We think the cause of honest Canadians in need of work and competent to work deserves a better pleader than Mr. Collins. The presentation of their case to the government should not sound like that of a ham actor in an inferior theatre.

If all of the new cold remedies could be placed end to end, there would probably be a long line waiting to try them.

Klaus Fuchs Spy Case Broke Up Allied Attempts To Share Atom

By MICHAEL BARKWAY From Washington

WHATEVER information Dr. Fuchs may have given to the Russians about atomic energy, he has certainly contributed substantially towards keeping the western allies apart on atomic questions. The suspension of the talks concerning a wider sharing of atomic information which have been going on since last September between Britain, the United States and Canada is directly due to the effect on the U.S. of the Fuchs case.

SECURITY DANGERS

Even if responsible administration officials had not been so impressed themselves by the security dangers revealed, they could not have implemented any agreement without Congressional approval. So soon after the trial of an official originally cleared by British security officers it would have been impossible to ask Congress to approve an increased pooling of information. The prevailing public temper is all in the opposite direction.

The administration's decision to put security before all else is easily understood in the light of the grilling which the Secretary of State, Mr. Dean Acheson, underwent in the Senate Appropriations Committee, where Republicans attacked him on the basis of his public statement that he would not turn his back on Alger Hiss although Hiss had been convicted of perjury in denying that he was a Communist.

While Mr. Acheson defended himself for this remark, another Senate subcommittee was preparing to investigate charges that the State Department contained 81 card-carrying Communists. The accusations came from the Republican Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, who so far refuses to mention names. One official on President Truman's staff named David Lloyd has himself announced that he is the person referred to by McCarthy as Case Number Nine. He gave the Press his full life story with divergences concerning relations as remote as great-aunts through whom the Senator had tried to establish guilty associations. His history also included a full investigation by the F.B.I.

If all the Senator's cases are as ill-founded as that of Lloyd, the enquiry will leave McCarthy looking pretty foolish.

But the significant thing is that an enquiry had to be made at all. No one can estimate the time it will take or how far it will distract important officials from their jobs. If Mr. Acheson has to spend the better part of his working day answering questions on why he refuses to turn his back on Hiss, one can only guess how many days lesser officials must spend answering the Senate Committee's enquiries.

DIRECT CLASH

There is a definite possibility that the Senate Committee may run into a direct clash with the President. Mr. Truman has promised that he will not allow government departments to reveal the personal files on their employees, but the Senate subcommittee promises to subpoena the files of everybody accused by Senator McCarthy.

A Rebirth

By JOSEPH ALSOP
From Bonn, Germany

PROBABLY the births and rebirths of nations are never superficially dramatic. If you read Senator MacLay's diary, you will find that the members of the first United States Congress were as much preoccupied with the difficulties of getting their washing done in New York, as with the great problems of the new American republic. Certainly there is nothing very stirring, on the surface, about the rebirth of Germany that is going on here in Bonn.

In this little old university town, the ministries are crowded into battered old requisitioned houses. The civil servants and less privileged politicians huddle in grim boarding houses. The Bundestag—the parliament—meets in a reconstructed teachers' college, to which an airy but jerrybuilt legislative chamber has been hastily added.

THE 400 OR SO lawyers and trades union officials, farmers and businessmen, all earnestly, sometimes angrily debating the new laws of the new Germany, offer a spectacle as outwardly ordinary as a crowd in a railroad station. These rather tired, middle-aged disillusioned men and women, wear their almost always shapeless and shabby clothes as though these were the uniforms of the new times. The picture and its details are, alike, blurred and a little sad.

Yet if you talk to enough of these people who have assembled to build a new nation in Germany, a kind of drama begins to emerge. Perhaps, as drama, it is a little negative.

AS CHANCELLOR ADENAUER bleakly tells his visitors, Germans now at least "know what to avoid." The Bonn parliamentarians have experienced inflation, economic crisis, the false pageantry of Nazism, the delusive excitement of victory, and the terrible reality of total defeat. They now have the somewhat unexciting aim of "not going through any of that again."

The symbol of their determination, and the apparent proof that this determination is shared by the German people, is the domination of the Bundestag by the centre. Elsewhere in Europe, the desperate process of the polarization of politics around the extremes still continues. Here in Bonn, the struggle of the two great centre parties, the Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats, is the stuff of German politics.

MUCH HAS BEEN written about the revival of German nationalism. The Heddies and the Remers are undoubtedly there on the right of the Bundestag chamber—just as Senator Wherry and Senator McKellar are always on view in Washington. So too is a notably tiny Communist faction. On balance, however, the extremists are less conspicuous and influential in the Bundestag at Bonn than in the United States Congress.

Indeed, after a couple of dozen interviews, one begins to suspect the existence of some sort of historic law. From the time of the unification of France under Richelieu until the final defeat of Napoleon, the French sought to overrun Europe on the average of once every 30 or 40 years. In 1815, at Paris, Prince Blucher used the very phrases about French aggressiveness that Gen. Koenig has more recently applied to the Germans in his battles with Gen. Clay. But the defeat of Napoleon none the less marked the end of French imperialism in Europe.

IN THE SAME WAY, the defeat of Hitler and the instructive devastation of Germany can perhaps mark the end of the German aggressiveness—the national dynamism—that was released by the unification of Germany under Napoleon's pressure. Certainly it would be difficult to imagine any government more lacking the will to conquer than this government at Bonn. At the same time, it must be expected that political poisons will flood Germany again if this Bonn government does not somehow work. The domestic difficulties, of improvising a new administration, recruiting a new civil service, and solving the most appalling economic problems, are unimaginably great. Perhaps this government will not work after all.

TO THIS OBSERVER, however, it appears as even greater danger that the allies will not let the Bonn experiment succeed. The whole political structure has just been convulsed by the rage of the Saar question. Those who regard this convulsion as a dangerously "nationalistic" manifestation should recall the fury of the people of Paris, when the allies of 1815 merely decided to return to their owners the works of art that Napoleon had stolen from every capital in Europe.

The Bonn experiment can probably be successful if the new German government is allowed to act as a true government. But it will surely fail if this new government is made to seem a mere vehicle for continuing the punishment of Germany for the crime of the war.

That's One Way Of Putting It

Vandalism Costs Too Much In Dollars As Well As In National Self-Respect

By BRUCE BLOSSAT From New York

SOMEWHERE in the course of their robust history Americans decided that vandalism and petty stealing were just good sport. It's about time they realize this happy lark is costing millions of dollars, and not to mention lives.

People don't like to be lectured on this sort of thing, but how else can they be made to understand what's happening?

STARTLING FIGURES

The magazine Survey recently looked into vandalism concentrating on highway, roadside and park damage and rounding up some of the startling figures. For example, California puts damage to highway signs alone at $60,000 in a single year. Washington state's estimate is $44,000 and Utah's $37,500.

What did the money go for? To replace road signs that were shot up, bent, twisted, uprooted and carted off—all in fun. Said a New Mexico official: "We've never had a sign wear out from natural causes."

From Arizona came a report that during one night 65 signs were wrecked by vandals on a 90-mile stretch of highway. The cost was $1,500. Theft of a sign at a dangerous Oregon intersection was blamed directly for a fatal crash.

Signs are far from the only targets. Texas has to rebuild its many roadside parks every three years. Tables, benches, outdoor grills are ripped apart and taken away, even when made of concrete. Marauders don't spare bronze dedicatory markers, either.

National parks bear the vandal's imprint, too. A Yellowstone Park official says people continually deface the area's scenic wonders, carving their undistinguished names on walls, geyser formations, trees and buildings.

Worse, some shoot holes in the 10,000-gallon water tanks placed high on national forest slopes for use in fighting forest fires. The cost in burned-out timber is heavy.

Damage to highways and parks obviously is just a small part of the story. We all know what injury thoughtless, selfish individuals do to monuments and other public properties. Vandals don't exclude as fair game such shrines as Arlington National Cemetery, where headstones are defaced and graves are robbed of flowers and fixtures.

The "fun-loving" citizens guilty of these shameful acts probably think of themselves as law-abiding. And no doubt they believe their little pranks cost them nothing.

HIGH COST

They're wrong on both counts. Willful destruction of property isn't condoned by law, whether the goal is sport or not. And the cost of this senseless behavior comes home to everyone, including the marauders, in the shape of higher taxes, less highway safety for our money, less timber for our homes and permanent ruin to irreplaceable scenic splendors.

When we confine our shooting practice to backyard tin cans and our name-scravelling to cheque signatures and college English compositions, we'll be on the way toward growing up. But right now the facts make us out to be pretty juvenile.

Celebrating The Photo's Anniversary Where It First Saw The Light Of Day

By A. K. ASTBURY, From London

THE NUMBER of really important inventions which were given to the world as a result of a holiday cannot be large. Yet the method used by all photographers today to print their pictures was the invention of an Englishman who started thinking the whole thing out on his honeymoon over 100 years ago. The inventor was William Fox Talbot, and an exhibition to commemorate the 150th anniversary of his birth has just been opened in Lacock Abbey, his old home in the west of England.

EARLIEST PHOTOGRAPHS

Some of the earliest photographs ever taken, in Britain or anywhere else, were to be seen in the exhibition.

The very first one of all, a tiny print of a window in Lacock Abbey taken in 1835, was too delicate to leave its present home in the Science Museum, London, but many others as old family groups in the strange dress of those days, pictures of Lacock church and village were examined by enthusiastic crowds of photographers, amateur and professional (including the president of Britain's Royal Photographic Society) who went to Lacock Abbey to see the exhibition of Talbot's cameras and photographs.

The idea of photography apparently came to Talbot while he was painting in water colors on his honeymoon. It was fashionable in those days to produce watercolors as reminders of places one visited; and Talbot thought how much easier it would be if he could have some permanent notes of the scenery for finishing his painting when he got home.

And photography as we know it today has been the final result.

Talbot was a man of some attainments in other directions; a mathematician, an astronomer and a botanist, he helped to translate inscriptions found on the site of the ancient Assyrian city of Nineveh, and was the author of the first book illustrated entirely by photographs.

NATIONAL TRUST

Lacock Abbey, which was founded in 1232, and Lacock village itself, are also of outstanding interest. The village, one of the loveliest in the country of Wiltshire, was in the possession of the Talbot family for generations, who ensured that its beauties were preserved. And now village and Abbey will remain unspoiled for ever, for five years ago both were given by Talbot's granddaughter to the National Trust, a society which looks after places of great beauty or historic interest in the United Kingdom.

THE $1,000,000,000 United States military aid program for the rearming of western Europe got under way yesterday, thus starting implementation of the Grand Defence strategy of the Atlantic allies, approved by President Truman only six weeks ago.

The first shipment was to France, consisting of warplanes which were put aboard the French aircraft carrier Dixmude at Norfolk.

France will get further help, and her acting ambassador, Jean Daridan, declared that "the aid program will facilitate the determined effort which France is making to ensure her own security, a condition and consequence of the security of all."

The current state visit of French President Vincent Auriol to London is said to be concerned in part with defence of Europe in general and of France in particular. As Paris sees it, the American-western European military strategy is based on Britain.

The French want the defence centred solidly around their country so that it won't again be overrun by foreign troops. France's recent sensational pact with Germany's former chief coal-mining Saar, basin fits into this picture.

The Saar basin is of vast strategic value militarily, quite apart from her wealth of coal. France wants this zone as a buffer against invasion.

Henceforth French fears of assault have been directed towards Germany which has attacked France three times in the last 80 years. And although Germany is impotent at the moment the French naturally don't want to take chances.

French anxiety is greatly increased because of the country's large and active Communist population. The French Reds are doing everything possible to hamper military preparedness and have announced that shipments of arms under the American military aid program will be sabotaged at the docks.

The French government is preparing for contingencies. As regards the military aid program, the government has served notice that sabotage will be dealt with ruthlessly by force.

The military shipments from the U.S. will be a godsend for France at this crucial juncture—and by the same token for the rest of western Europe.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN," said the Elevator Man, "a source of astonishment to the ordinary citizen how members of Parliament or the Legislature conduct themselves in the big Chamber. If you want to see a picture of people trying to get comfortable at any price, just watch those rows of fellows in the swivel chairs. Knees up, heads down, feet wherever they fit best—it sure is a study in gymnastics. The Cabinet section stays fairly formal, but even a bleak look in the Speaker's eye doesn't straighten up some of the back bench boys. Some of them look like they were on the rack, ready to confess any minute. They make the Hindu fakirs on their beds of nails look like amateurs. Going up?"

"It's a funny thing," said the Elevator Man, "how a man seems to do his best thinking with his head low and his feet high. Lots of people get their best ideas in bed, when they're stretched out flat. I sometimes wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to go the limit and substitute nice little beds for the Legislature's arm chairs. The members could lie there in rows, like a hospital ward—white blankets for the Cabinet, blue, say, for the Government cots, red for the Opposition, and maybe special green ones for new members. Everybody could get a good rest, and save all their energy for thinking about public affairs. Mind the step!"

"Anyway," said the Elevator Man, "I'm all for making things easier to do. It's like the story of the man who lost two bits in the gutter on View Street one night, but he looked for it in the gutter on Douglas Street because the lighting was better there. It's a good principle, and I'm all for principle—even if it doesn't get results."

Saskatchewan Training Indians As Prospectors

Natives, Given Aid, Expected To Contribute To Bringing In New Mineral Regions

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Saskatchewan, ambitious to become one of Canada's great mining provinces, has put its native Indians to work.

The plan was described Wednesday to the Prospectors' and Developers' Association in a paper prepared by W. James Bichan and Malcolm F. Norris of the province's mineral resources branch, and presented by Mr. Norris.

It is based on the proposition that in many large areas it is not possible for prospectors to gain a livelihood, particularly through the early years of reconnaissance.

"It is possible, however, for individuals resident in the territory, or more appropriately, native to the territory, to gain a livelihood from the exploitation of the game, fish and forest resources, with auxiliary aid of small-time agricultural pursuits."

Proceeding from this the C.C.L. Political Group Permanent

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Political Action Committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor has been established on a permanent basis, the C.C.L. announced Wednesday.

It will hold its first meeting as a permanent body in Toronto, March 22, the C.C.L. announced.

"While the congress has been active in the last provincial and federal elections in support of the C.C.F., this activity has been on a straight election basis and it is now proposed to set up an organization on a permanent basis," the C.C.L. said.

government decided that the logical people to do primary prospecting are the native Indian population.

Last summer four parties of two men each were chosen and sent out. Each man was paid $4 a day, Sundays exclusive, plus a sustenance allowance of $1 a day straight time; a maximum of $135 a month for each trainee.

Apparently the results were encouraging, even if some difficulties were encountered.

Messrs. Bichan and Norris state that co-operation effected between native trainees and Geological Survey personnel has proved of mutual advantage. "The interchange of scientific knowledge for practical details of woodcraft, the use and care of canoes and camp equipment, has been as much to the benefit of the geologists and students as to the prospectors."

"The enthusiasm of the trainees bore a direct relationship to the time spent with them. For the most part they were eager and willing to learn and be shown."

STEADY PROGRESS
"Through the direction of more and more individuals, both of Indian and white races, into this type of activity there will be maintained a steady amount of uncovering of new and interesting concentration of valuable minerals."

The federal department of Indian affairs co-operated and the federal government contributed $3,000, or approximately half of the committed expenditures of the program.

Portly Coburn Celebrates 60 Years in Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A portly old gent with an ever-present cigar and monole was given a party Tuesday night. He was Charles Coburn, who was celebrating 60 years in show business.

"I can't remember wanting to be anything but an actor," Coburn reflected as he gazed back over the years. "My mother and father were devotees of the theatre, although they were never on the stage."

Born in Macon, Ga., Coburn first attended the theatre at the age of eight in Savannah, where he grew up. At 13, he took his first theatrical job as program boy in the Savannah Theatre. He graduated to usher and became manager at 18.

"It was a huge theatre and we had names like Otis Skinner and Richard Mansfield," he recalled. "I remained manager for two years, but at the time I wanted to be an actor... so I joined a stock company and got a few walk-on parts, enough to get oriented in the business. I thought I wanted to be a comic opera comedian. I could sing and dance a bit."

"That ambition died when I played Shakespeare. I became a

B.C. Indians Demand Rights

VANCOUVER (CP)—The North American Indian Brotherhood will ask for return of "aboriginal fishing rights" to British Columbia's 10,000 Indians.

Frank Assu, N.A.I.B. president said here Wednesday the demands would be made to the Indian Act committee at Ottawa. The delegates will ask for two areas for exclusive Indian fishing. They will be in the Fraser River area and in Johnstone Strait.

"We are being crowded out by the white people and want the government to guarantee our natural rights to protect our living in the future," Mr. Assu said.

TOO MUCH FOR PLEASING

Development Should Come First, Says M.L.A.

Leigh F. Stevenson, retired R.C.A.F. air vice marshal who is the third Coalition member of the Legislature for Vancouver-Point Grey, urged in Budget Speech debate Wednesday a review of the province's finances with a view to economizing.

He thought the government was overstepping the mark in developing schemes pleasing to the people instead of developing projects from which earnings could be derived to permit the people to buy for themselves the things now being handed them.

"Let us stop trying to do good and instead endeavor to do what is right," Mr. Stevenson said to a House appearing more attentive than usual.

It was difficult to discern where the $105,000,000 budget might be cut, said the Vancouver member, "one cannot help but feel it contains extravagances which we cannot afford."

Amounts provided for education and social services were frightening. Amounts for roads also were fearsome, and unless steps were taken to encourage the tourist industry ("and it may in time turn out to be our major industry") the investment here might prove to be a poor one.

Mr. Stevenson thought sweepstakes should be introduced to help pay "terrific costs of social services."

He thought too the education system might be overhauled and savings affected through use of phonograph records, tape and wire recorders, movies and radio in classroom instruction.

PASSING PLATE

A proper scale of premiums and benefits for hospital insurance had to be established, the speaker continued. The present system amounted to little more than "passing around the collection plate." The people had to pay for all they received.

Government operating costs should be reviewed and savings made. The member gave as an example of overlapping the system employed in liquor stores where the customer went to one man to get a written order, took it to the cashier to be stamped, and then to a third party to receive the article he was purchasing.

He believed a considerable saving would be seen through employment of the R.C.M.P. instead of the B.C. police force in the province.

Industry, apart from the tourist industry, had to be developed if revenue was to be increased. Mr. Stevenson continued. Natural resources had and were producing great wealth, but more industries were needed to safeguard the economy.

"In reviewing the fisheries, lumber and agriculture pictures I think it might be found that our province instead of being rich, is in fact a poor province with the most costly communication system in Canada located at the extreme end of a long freight haul, rates for which have just been increased again," Mr. Stevenson said.

"And we must keep in mind that we are a matter of 3,000 miles or more from the large centres of Canadian population. Over 90 per cent of our terrain, too, is standing on edge and much of it is unproductive and useless."

"Compare this with Saskatchewan where practically all of the road system serves production areas. We must remember that our roads and maintenance of them is one of our greatest expenses."

NO FATAL DOSE of air was injected into the veins of cancer victim Mrs. Abbe Borroto for whose "mercy killing" Dr. Hermann Sander is on trial for first degree murder. This was the evidence of Dr. Richard Ford, pathologist of Harvard University.

Sask. Boosts Tax To Bolster Troubled Hospital Finances

REGINA (CP)—A sore point in Saskatchewan's tax structure—the 2 per cent education tax—will be removed next month, but it will be replaced by a higher direct levy.

The announcement came Tuesday night in Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines' budget speech. He said a 3 per cent assessment will take its place April 1, to aid the ailing government hospital services plan.

Mr. Fines, custodian of the public purse since the C.C.F. government rode to power in 1944, also handed down the biggest budget in the province's history. Net expenditures are estimated at $35,000,000, and gross expenditure at $62,000,000. The extra $7,000,000 will come from federal subsidies, he said. He estimated revenues at $33,150 above the net expense figure, and said capital expenditures and revenue on the capital account would balance.

FIRST WAS LIMITED

The first coast-to-coast airmail service in the United States was inaugurated in 1920, but planes were flown only in daylight, the mail being dispatched by train during the night.

Sooke Chamber To Meet On March 13

SOOKE—A meeting of the Sooke-Jordan River Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Community Hall dining-room here March 13 at 8 in the evening. Guest speaker will be Raymond W. Kersey, regional development division, Department of Trade and Industry. Walter Conder will preside.

HULL, Eng. (CP)—Though burned when some petrol burst into flames George Usher, 49, drove himself to hospital.

Atlin Seeking Air Ambulance

An air ambulance service for the scattered population of his northern Atlin riding was Frank Calder's request of the government Wednesday in Budget Speech debate.

The C.C.F. Indian member thought an aircraft should be purchased or chartered to fly doctors, dentists and public health nurses to the people in the isolated districts at regular intervals to eliminate their health worries.

The city of Stewart would be the most suitable headquarters for the service.

In addition to carrying health officials, the aircraft could be used to take school inspectors and welfare workers in to the back woods.

"People in the cities receive every attention. Why not the people in the 'sticks,'" said Mr. Calder.

Too Many Bites Off Pay Cheques Member Complains In Legislature

Strong opposition to deducting hospital insurance premiums from pay cheques was made in the Legislature Wednesday by Maurice P. Finnerty, Cdn.-Similkameen.

If payroll deductions grow any more the working man will find the paymaster handing him his cheque, saying: "All your bills are paid; here is your pocket money."

The Similkameen member did not think payroll deductions for hospital insurance would be approved by employers who were doing just about enough book-keeping for the government.

Private insurance companies did not guarantee the policy holder a hospital bed before the government plan eliminated such schemes as the Blue Cross, yet the fact remained the holder got a bed, Mr. Finnerty went on.

Private insurance was purchased voluntarily and if it did not deliver the goods it couldn't be sold, he said.

An insurance salesman himself, the interior member said the principle of insurance was that a risk was measured, a contract was made, and a premium commensurate with the measurement of the risk, and the contract was charged.

"If this principle had been followed in the government scheme I am convinced that home nursing staffs could have been provided for the less serious cases, possibly through arrangement with the Victoria Order of Nurses, and that beds would be made available for those seriously ill," Mr. Finnerty continued.

"I believe," he added, "this would have removed the most critical objections to the government scheme."

Mr. Finnerty said that during the last six months outspoken criticism had appeared in the press in regard to hospital insurance, but the government had remained silent.

"Some say silence is golden and some say silence is consent."

but I say that in this case silence by the government has created doubt and unrest among the people and that if the criticisms were unjustified at the time they were made, this government should have refuted them publicly and placed the minds of the people at ease," he said.

Faces Extradition

VANCOUVER (CP)—Tina Markovitch, 18, has lost another bid to escape extradition to face a charge of grand larceny at Buffalo, N.Y. Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Supreme Court here Wednesday refused to release her on a writ of habeas corpus. Chief Justice Wendell Farris earlier had dismissed a similar application.

Relax Blue Laws Member Suggests

Wants More Freedom On Sports, Liquor, Lotteries

Relaxation of the blue laws on racing, liquor, Sunday sports, sweepstakes and other things appealing to tourists was advocated in the Legislature Wednesday by Leigh F. Stevenson, Cdn. Vancouver Point Grey, if the tourist industry was to be expanded.

Tourists came to Canada for a holiday and expected attractions which appeared to have become an important part of holiday life the member stated.

In addition B.C.'s sport, fish and game, one of the prime components of the tourist industry, were fast disappearing and unless more money was spent on conservation and development, this attraction would fade.

On the relaxing of the blue laws the speaker said he did not wish to see the character of the province become "too racy" but times were changing everywhere and "unless we follow the general trend we will be left in the lurch."

"There will be little satisfaction in believing that we are right and all others are wrong if we cannot find the funds to operate our many services," the member said.

"As to those who said that this will create an intolerable situation and promote gambling, vice and immorality and other undesirable conditions," he continued, "let me say this—sweepstakes, racing, less restricted liquor laws and Sunday sports are in effect in other countries and they are being handled sensibly and with dignity."

The C.C.A. president's statement was issued against a background of two major wage disputes—in Toronto and Ottawa—in which plumbers are seeking pay increases. There is some feeling in the industry that any increases obtained by these groups would set the pace for similar demands in the construction trade across the country.

Dog-Racing Problem

LONDON (Reuter)—The Roman Catholic Church in England and Wales said Wednesday that "little evil seems to flow directly from betting at race courses," but urged rigorous control of the "serious problem" of dog racing in large cities. Church leaders told a Royal Commission inquiring into gambling that card playing and games of chance, especially high-stake bridge clubs, often badly affect home life.

334 Died In Rail Mishaps In 1949

OTTAWA (CP)—There were 334 persons killed in Canadian railway accidents in 1949, including 94 who ignored that ubiquitous sign, "don't trespass." The Board of Transport Commissioners, in an annual report tabled in Parliament, reported a death and accident toll that included four passengers killed and 620 injured.

There were 3,221 railway accidents in Canada in 1949 including 441 on highway level crossings. Casualties totalled 4,072 including 334 killed and 3,738 injured, an increase in casualties of 209 over 1948. There were 65 fewer persons killed but 274 more injured than in 1948.

Labor Asked To Help Cut Building Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—Concern over demands of construction labor for higher pay was expressed today by Robert Drummond of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Association.

Mr. Drummond, in a statement following a meeting of the C.C.A. management committee, called on labor for co-operation in holding down building costs.

"This is necessary to keep new construction attractive and economically feasible in all regions of the country," he said. "It is for this reason that the industry feels that any general rise in construction wage rates would be unwise."

The C.C.A. president's statement was issued against a background of two major wage disputes—in Toronto and Ottawa—in which plumbers are seeking pay increases. There is some feeling in the industry that any increases obtained by these groups would set the pace for similar demands in the construction trade across the country.

Canucks Now Fifth As Scrambling Continues For Playoff Positions

It's still Vancouver trailing Tacoma, Portland and Seattle in that order for a playoff spot in the Pacific Coast Hockey League's northern division today with New Westminster Royals home free.

Seattle and Portland made gains on the idle Canucks last night by playing to a 1 to 1 tie. Meanwhile, Royals were tripping the Tacoma Rockets, 4 to 2.

The southern division title is all wrapped up with San Francisco Shamrocks the section champions. The Shamrocks led the crown with a 2 to 1 triumph over Los Angeles Monarchs.

Tomorrow night two games which mean a great deal to three of the competing clubs. Only Victoria is disinterested in the point race but the Cougars could play a big part one way or the other.

The locals meet Seattle here while Portland invades Vancouver.

The way matters now stand Tacoma has a three-point edge on Portland. The Penguins lead Seattle by one point and the Ironmen hold a one-point edge over the Canucks.

One of the features of last night's play was Doug Adam's 50th goal of the season for Tacoma tying the record set last year by Pat Desbiens of Portland.

Surprise Marks Junior Hockey

Medicine Hat Tigers pulled off a startling upset victory over the powerful Lethbridge Native Sons as semifinal playoffs got under way Wednesday night in the Western Canada Junior Hockey League. The Bengals won 5 to 3 on Lethbridge ice.

The other semifinal bracket produced the expected result—Moose Jaw Canucks, who finished second to Native Sons in the regular schedule, defeated the Pats 4 to 3 on Regina ice.

The playoff rounds, both best-of-five affairs, resume at Medicine Hat and Moose Jaw Saturday night.

A three-goal performance by Doug Hage proved to be the difference in the Lethbridge contest. Tigers, who finished in fourth place, led 1 to 0 at the end of the first period, 4 to 1 after the second and held on as Sons outscored them 2 to 1 in the final.

MR. RICKEY IN HOT WATER AGAIN

Montreal Scribes, Fans Hostile When Royals' Manager Shifted

MONTREAL (BUP)—Branch Rickey got the panning of his life today at the hands of irate Montreal sports writers.

A veritable storm of criticism of the Brooklyn Dodgers' sphinx-like boss followed the Rickey decision to ship popular Clay Hopper, manager of the Montreal Royals, to St. Paul.

Trader Rickey didn't make the announcement himself. Surprised Montrealers learned of the ship-Hopper-south move from officials of the International League club.

Al Parsley of the Herald, generally rated a moderate-kind-of character, charged "meddling man-hatna" was never content to let a good thing remain a good thing.

"Beyond Mr. Rickey's policy for tampering, and never allowing his underlings a sense of security... fans could find no rhyme nor reason for the sudden and startling move," he wrote.

Al could be right. "Iron Man" Hopper, now replaced by St. Paul's 1949 pilot, Walter Aston, had some record here. He harangued and pleaded his Royals into three Governor's Cup wins, two junior world series crowns and two International League pennants since 1946.

TOUGH FOR ASTON

Baz O'Meara, who authors the "Passing Show" in the Montreal Star, suggested Rickey was trying to penalize Hopper for "having the temerity to insist on a pay raise and making it stick."

O'Meara figured Wally Aston had headed for Montreal with two strikes against him.

"As it stands now, it doesn't rate as a very bright move," concluded the Star scribe.

Dink Carroll of the Gazette recalled that Hopper once told him "if I can't manage in the big league, then I want to stay in Montreal."

Summed up Carroll: "Branch Rickey has never shown any hesitation in dropping pilots, even when they won pennants... But if he doesn't put a top-notch club in Montreal this coming season this latest move should boom-crang."

Perhaps Lloyd McGowan of the Star put the finishing touch to the anti-Rickey campaign here. McGowan quoted one of the Royals' hottest fans, who reacted violently to the Hopper shift.

"I don't like what Mr. Rickey has done. I don't like it at all... the angry fan pontificated."

OLD MICKEY COCHRANE TO DON CATCHING OUTFIT

NEW YORK (UP)—A salary squabble today promised to give the baseball world a fleeting look into the nostalgic past.

His shock of black hair now grey at the temples, black Mike Cochrane is going back behind the mask and the mitt which won him baseball immortality.

Mickey Cochrane, after a decade on the baseball sidelines, returned this season as a coach with the Philadelphia Athletics—a man who thought he caught his last game on a near-fatal May afternoon in 1937.

With regular catcher Mike Guerra a holdout, Mickey answered the alarm like an old firehorse and volunteered to catch in exhibition games starting next week. At 47, this isn't the Cochrane of World Series fame and the 320 average for 12 years in the majors.

Two Ontario Rinks Share Brier Lead

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian curling championships rounded into the stretch drive today with the strong possibility an Ontario rink will give the province its third Dominion title in the 'spile' 23-year history.

The final three draws are on the card—morning, afternoon and night—and the picture before the country's 68,000 curling enthusiasts is one that isn't entirely familiar.

Ontario and Northern Ontario—the province has two entries—head for the wire neck and neck with Quebec and Alberta in contending spots, Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Manitoba coming in on a prayer and New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan definitely out of the running.

Western Canada curlers have predominated the scene for years but the only real hope this time rides on the experience and can-niness of Edmonton's Cliff Manahan, two-times Dominion champion. He has a 4-2 win-loss record, equalling Herbie Simon's Quebec entry, against 5-1 records of the Kitchener and Kirkland Lake entries from Ontario.

If a first-place tie develops to-night, a playoff will be held Friday.

ONESIDED WIN

The last unbeaten team fell yesterday as Northern Ontario dropped Carl Aasmussen's Kitchener rink in the afternoon by a handy 11-5 margin and stayed with the Southern Ontario quartette last night. Ontario walloped Prince Edward Island 18-6 and Tom Ramsay's steady all-roundable northern rink took Saskatchewan 11-5. Ernie Whittier's Prince Albert crew dropping its fifth.

Ramsay's rink broke through the younger Kitchener rink and won going away. Ability of the all-miner outfit to get out the shots they wanted, running, draw, raise or freeze, was responsible.

Manahan showed why he has been in the Dominion finals five times by taking British Columbia's Bung Cartmell 8-6 in a slowly-played game that kept the 3,500 spectators at Kerrisdale Arena in the seats until the end.

TOP ROOKIE

MONTREAL (CP)—Jackie Leclair of Ottawa Senators was chosen top rookie of the Quebec Senior Hockey League in a poll conducted by the Canadian Press. The 21-year-old native of Quebec played junior hockey with Lethbridge Native Sons four years ago.

MINOR ICE FINALS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Minor hockey playdowns take place at the Memorial Arena to-night.

The card opens at 7 with Royals meeting Maroons in the second game of a best-of-three series for the midgeet championship. Maroons won the first game, 4 to 2.

An hour later Bears and Maroons take the ice in a juvenile semifinal. Winner will meet Senators in the final.

The main contest pits Senators against Maroons in the second game of the Odd Fellows' Trophy series, in which Maroons hold a one-game lead.

Raleigh Spark In Rangers' Victory

Scores Three Goals As Club Grabs Third Spot

James Donald Raleigh, the centre from Kenora, Ont., scored three goals last night as New York Rangers defeated Chicago Black Hawks 4 to 2. The victory moved Rangers into third place in the National Hockey League, leaving Montreal Canadiens in the fourth and last playoff position.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 5 to 3 in the night's other game, considerably dimming Bruins' slight mathematical chance of gaining a playoff berth.

With the string rapidly running out, Detroit today has 76 points, Toronto Maple Leafs 66, New York 63 and Montreal 62. Boston is fifth with 53 points and only eight games left. Chicago, at the bottom, has 46 points and nine games left.

Everybody figured that Chicago wouldn't make the playoffs, and that it was between New York and Boston for the other discard. Right now they can quit worrying about New York. The Rangers are not only in, they're driving for second place.

Don Raleigh, the 23-year-old centre with a left-hand shot, played 15 games with Rangers as long as six years ago. He returned to professional hockey in the 1947-48 season. This winter the slim sharpshooter has been a potent figure in the Ranger drive to the heights. He scored early in the first period at Chicago last night and twice more in the last frame, with Tony Lesswick getting the other New York goal. Gus Bodnar and Gaye Stewart scored for Hawks.

TWO FOR LINDSAY

At Boston the league's leading marksman, Ted Lindsay of Detroit scored twice. Lee Fogelin, captain Sid Abel and big Jack Stewart scored the others. Johnny Peirson, Ed Harrison and captain Milt Schmidt counted for Bruins.

Bruins outshot Detroit, 23 to 14.

Wings and Rangers clash to-night at New York, while Toronto Maple Leafs travel to Montreal. The game at the High School Cagers Win Island Crown

CUMBERLAND—Victoria High School last night won the Vancouver Island Intermediate A girls' basketball championship by defeating Cumberland, 33 to 26, in the second game of the total-point series.

Winners of the first game in Victoria, 28 to 16, the Vic High team won the round, 61 to 42.

Pat Mason sparked the visitors with 14 points. Vic High led 6 to 4 at the first quarter, 15 to 9 at the half and 27 to 18 at the three-quarter mark.

The Victoria squad will travel to Vancouver tomorrow for a two-game, total-point series with Vancouver Majorettes for the British Columbia title.

EUROPEAN GIRL RETAINS WORLD SKATING TITLE

Aja Vrzanova In Brilliant Stand; Morrow Is Fourth

LONDON (CP)—Brilliant Aja Vrzanova of Czechoslovakia Wednesday night won the women's crown in the world figure skating championships, pulling away from Britain's Jeannette Altwegg with a superb performance in the free skating.

Yvonne Sherman of New York finished third and Suzanne Morrow of Toronto fourth in the wind-up event of the title meet before a capacity crowd of 9,000 at Wembley rink.

Miss Vrzanova, a tall, black-haired beauty, led Miss Altwegg by less than a point after the compulsory figures Tuesday. But her graceful display of free skating gave her a 14-point margin over the British star from Liverpool in the final tabulation.

Canada's other entry, Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., placed ninth in the 14-woman field.

The Canadian girls both performed splendidly, each drawing "all fives" from the seven-judge panel—but neither was able to place higher than they did in Tuesday's compulsory figures.

Miss Morrow, 19-year-old Canadian champion, came within an ace of winning the third-place bronze medal from Miss Sherman, the North American skating queen. Her placings totaled 24, one higher than the New Yorker, but she lost on points.

The final point scores for the top four were: Vrzanova, 1,359.16; Altwegg, 1,345.71; Sherman, 1,330.58; and Morrow, 1,319.73.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Since he first moved into the local sports picture, as a manager, by taking over the handling of the longshoremen's tug-of-war squad several years ago, outspoken Jim Lackie has the happy knack of coming up with a winner. Maybe his baptism into the athletic field with that bunch of rough, husky dock workers had something to do with it.

When commercial hockey returned to the local sports front this winter Lackie entered the field as boss of the Douglas Tire club. And sure enough he followed the same pattern that marked his softball activities by getting his club into the winner's slot. Because he always goes out to get a winning club, Lackie may not be too popular with some of the customers, but one must admit any team he handles always puts up a good fight.

Veteran Warshawski Comes Through

When Lackie decided to take up hockey he played it smart. Realizing he was no hockey coach himself he stepped out and picked up a first-class man in veteran Frank Warshawski. A fellow who has been all through the hockey mill and a top-ranking player in his younger days, Warshawski has done a good job with the Tiresmen. To cap it off, Warshawski came through with the million-dollar goal Tuesday night to give his club a win and the league championship.

And the first one to congratulate his coach and give him all the credit for the team's success was Jim Lackie.

Clover Leafs Headed For Title

Although they will be forced to play the remaining games of the series on the Alberni floor, Vancouver Clover Leafs appear a shoo-in for the British Columbia senior men's basketball crown. Coach Porky Andrews' Alberni squad needed a split of the two engagements at Vancouver to stand much of a chance. Of course the Leafs are going to find the going tough if they should run up against the same kind of officiating that stopped our Y.M.C.A. cold on the Alberni floor.

Alberni players must have nearly dropped from shock when they found a good percentage of the Vancouver fans giving them support in their games against the Leafs. It seems mainland cage supporters have developed a healthy anti-Clover Leaf complex. Fact that members of the Clover Leafs have dominated the basketball picture in Vancouver for years no doubt has some bearing. The fans want to crown a new champion. They would like to see the favorites knocked off.

Takes Honors As Forecaster

Tommy Forbes is proving himself a pretty smart handicapper on the B.C. series. The first game at Vancouver he forecast Clover Leafs would win by three points. They took it by four. For the second engagement his prediction was Leafs by one point. They won by four in overtime.

"Alberni should be five points stronger on their home floor and I figure they'll take the third game," Forbes said. "Of course that prediction is based on Porky Andrews being able to stay on the floor. After all he is playing with a bad knee."

Poor Gates Force Hockey Series To Be Curtailed

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Frank Sargent, president of the Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association, said today Fort Frances Canadians have been declared the winner of a series against Port Arthur Bearcats for the region's senior title.

Sargent said that with Canadians ahead 3 to 1 in the best-of-seven series, it had been decided to cancel the rest of the series because of poor attendance and because of lopsided scores. Last night's encounter in Port Arthur, which Canadians won 10 to 3, drew only 270 fans.

Fort Frances now will meet the Manitoba winners, not yet decided, in the western semifinals, the winner to meet the W.C.S.H.L. champion in the final.

New Westminster Likely Site Of 1951 Silver Gloves Boxing

The Fraser Valley area will be the scene with New Westminster the likely site of the 1951 Silver Gloves boxing tournament, it was decided at a recent meeting of the B.C. Boxing Association here.

It was stressed by Val Roche, second vice-president of the association that holding a competition of this sort did much to popularize the sport.

Louis Callan, vice-president of the Vancouver Island Boxing Association, supported Roche's contention and agreed that the Fraser Valley area was entitled to hold the Silver Gloves next year.

The question of training and keeping the boys' weight at a correct fighting figure was discussed at length. Coaches were advised to strictly avoid unnecessary "sweating" in order for a boy to make a prescribed weight.

Callan suggested that if Silver Gloves competitions throughout the province were held as near as possible to the same date allowing the same period of time for preliminary competitions, this would ease the difficulties of making weight limits.

Registrar Sid Greenwood pointed out that the tournament is sold as a "tournament of champions" and as such weight classes should be adhered to, and if a boy goes five pounds overweight, he should be eliminated and the runner-up fight in his place.

MUST MOVE UP
It was voted that a champion at one weight must automatically advance into a higher weight the following year and that one pound overweight for traveling be allowed.

The meeting also passed a motion by Roy Simmons, president of the island association, that the Bronze Gloves be held prior to the Silver Gloves and Silver Gloves prior to the Golden Gloves.

A warning was issued to parents and boys against anyone wishing to sign up young and perhaps mediocre boxers as professionals. It was also pointed out that although boys under 18 years of age could only fight a maximum of four rounds, referees should be told a boy's age and be advised to stop any fight where such a boy was taking an unnecessary beating.

The 60-pound weight class was introduced into the Silver Gloves and 160-pound weight abolished. Dates of this year's Bronze Gloves were announced as being on April 7 and 8.

CANUCK SWIM STARS WIN AT SYDNEY

SYDNEY, Australia (BUP)—Fair-haired Lucien Beaumont of Quebec today won the 110-yard freestyle event in the invitational Sydney carnival swimming tourney.

Beaumont, one of Canada's British Empire Games representatives, flashed through the water to win in 61.0, defeating P. Vines and J. Forrest, two top Australian swimmers.

Joan Morgan of Victoria, B.C., finished a close second in the 110-yard backstroke to Australia's Helen Pines, who clocked 1:27.0. In the gruelling 880-yard freestyle event, Leo Portelance of Ocean Falls, B.C., wound up third behind F. Jordan and B. Kelleway.

Irene Strong, Vancouver, outclassed strong opposition in the 100-yard breaststroke event. She set a New South Wales state record of 1:29.0 to crack the previous mark of 1:30.4 set by Fraire Denise in 1932.

Kay McNamee, another ace Vancouver swimmer, splashed her way to victory in the 220-yard freestyle dash to clock a fast 2:48.0 for the distance.

Spokane Flyers Win Ice Series

TRAIL (CP)—Spokane Flyers defeated Trail Smoke Eaters 2 to 1 Wednesday night to win the best of five Western International Hockey League championship playoff series three games to one.

The Flyers, who also finished first in the W.I.H.L., led 1 to 0 at the end of the first period. Both clubs scored one in the second.

Lorne Nadeau and Bill Snyder scored for Spokane. Louis Secco fired the lone Smoke goal.

Vic High, Bays, Mt. View Vie For Soccer Lead

The leadership of the Inter-high Senior Soccer League will be at stake next Wednesday when Victoria High and Mount View tangle at the latter's home field.

Yesterday's games left three squads tied for first place. The powerful Vic High eleven routed Esquimalt, 7 to 0, and Oak Bay blanked Mount Douglas, 2 to 0.

Vic High completely outclassed and out-weighted the dockyarders to gain an easy victory in their quest for the title. They built up a 4 to 0 lead in the first half on goals by Bob Rowe, Will Finlayson, Cedric Robb and Ron Pearce, and coasted in with three more in the second half. Bob Clarke tallied twice and Finlayson added his second.

Out at Mount Douglas, the Bays gained a single goal lead when Jimmy Burns rapped the sphere home midway through the opening session. Clincher came towards the latter stages of the fixture when Nelson Crisp broke away and drilled the ball in from close range.

Former Immigrant Girl, Now Store Owner, Tells Of Her Faith

The faith of our fathers is strong within us . . . and the influence of our grandparents helps us in moments of distress and decision. Lane Bryant, immigrant girl at 16, now has a great Fifth Avenue store bearing her name, and a four-acre mail-order plant in Indianapolis fills over 10,000 orders a day. Begun on a needle and thread basis, the Lane Bryant sales now are in the fifty million dollar a year bracket.

By LANE BRYANT

I was born Lena Himmelstein in a small village in Lithuania and my mother died when I was ten days old. My older sister and I were brought up by our grandparents.

For generations all the men in my family had been rabbis, educated but poor. In my childhood, Jews were not allowed to go to Czarist schools, but my grandfather taught me reading, writing and arithmetic and knowledge far more important.

Always his firm rich voice lived with me, instructing me: "Any work that helps another human being has dignity. The only real success comes from filling a human need." And in desperate times, his tones would echo in memory, with the words of the Talmud: "Forget not your God."

My sister migrated to the United States early, and when I was 16 years old, some distant relatives offered to take me in 1897.

My sister was a seamstress in a shop, and there I was hired for one dollar a week. Soon I found another job, as a first-class machine operator, at four dollars a week more. I met, and within a year married, David Bryant, a jeweler, older than I, and in my eyes a sophisticated man of the world. Ten months later our son Raphael was born, and within a year my husband, David Bryant, had died.

As I hugged my infant son to me, lonely and worried, I felt I could hear my grandfather's voice repeating: "Remember me, O my God, and wipe out not my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God."

The wedding gift from my husband of a pair of diamond earrings was often pawned to pay on a sewing machine—or rent. With a baby, I could not go out to work, but I could do piece work at home and live with my sister. So I started an on-the-premises business of fine bridal lingerie.

These I delivered personally, sometimes waiting hours to be paid. Money was necessary to buy material to make more.

In a few years, I opened a real shop on the first floor of a five-story building on Fifth Avenue and 120th Street. Nearby was Mount Morris Park, with grass and trees and a place to air the baby.

There was a five-dollar petticoat in the window, and in the back I worked at my machine, often with my baby in my lap—the child that was to grow up to be president of the business! My trade grew entirely from the fact that one customer would recommend me to another.

In 1907 I borrowed $300 from my brother-in-law to open a bank account. Now there would be a real shop separate from our living quarters. But the bank so awed me, the papers and whole procedure so rattled me that I signed my name L.A.N.E. instead of Lena, and then was too embarrassed to try to explain. From that day on, I was Lane Bryant.

My work began to be known at an astonishing rate. All the customers, as they married and expected babies, needed many negligees, for in those days women kept to the house in pregnancy. But my fate was decided when an expectant mother tearfully pleaded:

"I want so terribly to entertain at home. Couldn't you design a gown to hide my condition?"

A CHALLENGE

That problem challenged me—and I found that by inserting an elastic in the waistband of a silk sun-pleated skirt, the customer could wear it without provoking comment. Soon others clamored for the same service of disguise, and there I was launched on a career of designing for expectant mothers.

The first time I heard an eager young wife say, "Oh, you don't know what it means to me to have my husband's business friends to dinner and not feel a freak!" I knew I had found more than a living. I realized how right my grandfather was. I was filling a real need: here was a definite service.

Maternity and its problems became my chief concern, and for this women flocked to me and wrote when they moved away.

The business was almost more than I could handle when I met the man who was to shape the rest of my life. Albert Malson was born on the Baltic shores, had studied engineering in Germany and had traveled widely. We were married in 1909. He had vision; he saw the true future of the business.

In four years, we had three children, and for their sake we moved to the suburbs. But I continued to design new models at the store until a few weeks before each child was born—sporting my own best expectancy clothes.

A PAINTING

One wedding anniversary Albert gave me a painting which he had bought in Europe on one of his trips. It is a very beautiful thing—a study of a Patriarch reading from the Talmud by candlelight. From my first sight of it, I was looking upon my grandfather. He might have posed for it. And who knows but the artist may have met him in his travels?

It seemed to me a definite message. Those calm Old Testament eyes looked at me with quiet blessing. Again, as of old, I could hear his voice filling the room with prayer. It brought me reassurance.

We enjoyed our home life, for Albert was basically a family man. We brought up our children in the faith of our fathers. Passover was a great yearly occasion. I sat at one end of the table, all in white; it was a gala feast with as many as thirty or forty friends celebrating with us. And that picture of "my grandfather" seemed to preside.

In 1923, Albert died after a two-week illness. But he had built a secure foundation for us all.

Today at 67, my family has grown and there are 10 grandchildren. The 5,000 workers at Lane Bryant share our success and our pride in filling a true need. I have been working since I was 15 and it has been a good and rewarding life. I like best to know the service will go on, for there is always work to be done.

Tomorrow—Variety is not only the spice of life . . . it is the necessity of life, says Dorothy Canfield. She tells of the need for understanding among all races and creeds in tomorrow's story.

Ladder-Climbing Dog Wins Reprieve From Gas Chamber

PRESIDENT OF CHINA again is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who announced his resumption of that role in Taipei, Formosa. Behind him is a picture of the father of the Chinese Republic, Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

TORONTO (CP)—Whisky, the ladder-climbing dog, has found a new home in the country, where he can climb—and bark—to his heart's content.

The two-year-old mixture of Beagle and Collie won a reprieve from the gas chamber. It was his own bounding spirits that nearly put him there—this business of clearing nine-foot fences and climbing ladders all over the place.

Owner Robert Greer announced he just couldn't go on paying fines because Whisky was running loose and would have to destroy him. He changed his mind, however, after the flood of offers that came in and gave him up to adoption.

Whisky demonstrated his penchant for climbing ladders at an early age. One day, Greer relates, he was painting a garage roof when the puppy struggled, rung by rung, up the ladder left leaning against the garage.

No Early Reunion

LONDON (Reuter)—The Archbishop of Canterbury declared Wednesday it will take many years before discussion will be possible on "reunion" between the Roman Catholic Church and the Church of England. The Archbishop, Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, was referring in an address here to recent Vatican statements on joint activities of Roman Catholics and other Christians.

REQUEST FOR AID BELATED

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—A man dashed into police headquarters here Wednesday and said he wanted to report the disappearance of his wife.

Lieut. Harry Reynolds took down a description of the missing woman and then asked, "How long has she been missing?"

"Eighteen years."

SUGGESTION FROM CHIEF

Combine 1½ c. cooked diced or shredded carrots and string beans with 1 tbsp. browned butter and 1 tbsp. minced chives.

Only Sounding Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Acheson accused Russia Wednesday of using the United Nations more as a sounding board for its own propaganda than as "an agency to advance human well-being," in a press conference in which he also attacked Soviet Communism on several other fronts. Acheson forecast high-level strategy meetings of western leaders in either April or May.

STALE SOAP ECONOMY

Stale soap lasts longer and therefore is more economical than fresh soap. Buy a good supply in advance and remove the wrappers. Then the air can get at the stored soap.

Auto Workers Want No Loan From U.M.W.

DETROIT (AP)—The C.I.O. United Auto Workers today offered by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers to help finance the 43-day-old Chrysler strike.

At the same time, however, the U.A.W. told Lewis it would be "happy" to accept "any outright contribution you or your organization may wish to make" to the Chrysler strike fund.

The automobile union's answer was in a letter signed by president Walter Reuther. He said:

"Because of the generous contribution of U.A.W. members in plants other than Chrysler and of organizations outside the U.A.W., we have not found it necessary to borrow money to support the strike and do not anticipate that we shall."

The year was 1865

. . . the chill air was alive with excited shouts as men of Canada and the United States strove against each other on a frozen pond at Black Rock, near Buffalo. Their weapons: stones and brooms and the wild clamour of orders flung into the wind by opposing skips.

This was the "roarin' game" at its thrilling best . . . the first recorded international bonspiel on this continent. This was sport to strengthen understanding and friendship between men of all races and creeds . . . this was sport to enhance the spirit of friendly rivalry which has helped two neighbouring nations grow to greatness together.

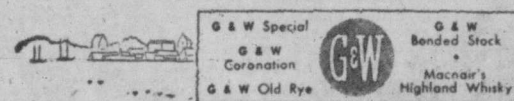

Free nations are these, where the rights of man are guarded by his individual right to the secret ballot . . . where his wish for peace and friendship must be respected by his elected representatives.

When YOU cast your ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked, and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

A cosmopolitan "brains trust" produced N. A. Bronsten's British film, "Hidden Room," for the international screen, currently at the Odeon Theatre.

N. A. Bronsten, the producer, was born in Moscow of mixed Russian and Norwegian extraction. He is a trained engineer and during the war was in charge of aircraft and propeller making factories in Britain.

Danny Kaye sweeps the screen in a riotous display of song and dance, clowning, and just plain acting, bringing his amazing versatility into full swing for Warner Bros. film, "The Inspector General," now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

Even though it meant inserting a stream in the middle of the arid Palestinian desert, Producer Cecil B. deMille has seen to it that his newest Technicolor spectacle, "Samson and Delilah," keeps intact his record of having a bathing scene in each of his pictures. Thieves Jack Up, Strip Car

Thieves did a thorough job of immobilizing this 1929 Ford sedan owned by Thomas Newsome, 924 Collinson Street, during week-end. They wheeled the car onto Caledonia Avenue lot, jacked up

Manning Faces What Could Grow Into Serious Internal Split

EDMONTON (CP)—Never seriously threatened by another political group in Alberta in the last 10 years, Premier E. C. Manning's Social Credit Party today faced what could develop into a serious internal split.

Safe Belly Landing

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The landing gear of a twin-engine C-46 transport plane collapsed Wednesday night, but the plane slid in 300 feet to a safe belly landing at Newark airport. None of the 50 passengers and crew of four was injured. A pregnant woman passenger, however, was taken to hospital for a routine check-up, airport police said.

That a rift exists in the party is apparent today after two government members, one a former cabinet minister, took the Manning administration to task in the Legislature Wednesday.

Earl Ansley (S.C.-Leduc) who resigned as education minister in 1928, said the government is at a standstill in putting Social Credit into effect.

He was joined by William Tomyn (S.C.-Willington), who said the government has "fallen prey to party dissension."

Disagreements on implementation of Social Credit monetary reforms are not new in the party, which holds 50 of the Legislature's 57 seats. They came to a head this year when A. V. Bourcier (S.C.-Lac Ste. Anne) was moved from the government to the opposition side of the House. For the first time in many years, these members who disagree with the government's policy carried their fight to the floor of the House.

Beecham Sick

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Thomas Beecham, famous British figure in music, collapsed Wednesday night while conducting the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra at Cheam, Surrey. Sir Thomas, 70, received treatment from a doctor who had been in the audience. He was found to have a high temperature, apparently due to influenza.

Mainland Members Ask For More Equal Cabinet Representation

By LLOYD BAKER

TWO SPEAKERS in Budget Speech debate in the House on Wednesday called for redistribution of cabinet posts to give representation to sections of the province now "out in the cold."

It was the first time the thought has been interjected in the current session. Vancouver Island was among the districts frowned upon as having too great a share of the "spoils" in this regard, and poor old Vancouver was among the hungry group on the other side of the fence.

LEIGH F. STEVENSON and Maurice Finnelly, both Coalition members, were the rebels.

The former, popular member for Vancouver-Point Grey, was perhaps the most rebellious rebel of the two. Mr. Finnelly, new member for Similkameen, had plenty to say on the subject, though.

Mr. Stevenson pointed a stiff finger at the fact there were three cabinet ministers from the Terrace-Fort George-Cariboo area, three more including the Premier, from the lower Fraser Valley, and three from lower Vancouver Island.

The island ministers are George S. Pearson, Nanaimo, health and welfare; Herbert Anscomb, Oak Bay, finance, and W. T. Straith, Victoria, education. "I have recently heard," he said, "that Vancouver Island is believed to be sinking. Perhaps three cabinet posts, and your own recent appointment Madam Speaker (Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria member) may be placing an undue overload of senior brass upon the southern part of this small island!"

THE GREAT EASTERN, south-eastern and south-central sections of the province, containing our great wheat-producing mines and fruit-growing industry, were not represented in cabinet, he complained.

"I think the people of this province deserve more equitable representation around the council table," he said. Then Mr. Stevenson came closer to the point. Vancouver, he said, was the heart of the province but in cabinet representation the great industrial metropolis was in sorry plight.

At the moment there was the Labor Minister (Hon. John Cates) holding back the whole weight of the province from a narrow foothold on the North Shore (North Vancouver), while the Attorney-General (Hon. Gordon Wismer) was paddling frantically to hold the good ship of Vancouver steady among the tides and currents coming from all directions.

That was the only cabinet representation Vancouver had. And, said Mr. Stevenson, "I think we deserve a more prominent seat in government."

The member, by the way, was looked upon last year as cabinet material when consideration was being given to filling of vacancies on the executive council and setting up new portfolios.

MR. FINNELLY, cabinet-complainant No. 2, thought the interior of the province deserved representation on the "inner circle." By the interior he meant the section lying east of Chilliwack and including the Similkameen his homeland, the Okanagan and the Kootenay district.

The area, he said, embraced almost one-half of the province.

The young member, an insurance salesman, said the interior people were hoping for a large shift in population to their districts, and that among the immigrants will be a cabinet minister, perhaps from Vancouver Island where ministers were "abundant, perhaps to the point of being superfluous."

THE LADIES' gallery of the Legislative Chamber held nearly 20 charming students from Strathcona School at Shawnigan Lake who had the thrill of their young days during the afternoon proceedings.

The group included the daughter of Member Stevenson and the girls trekked to Victoria to hear the former bush pilot who became an air vice-marshal in the R.C.A.F. in World War II, give his first speech of the session.

To make their day complete, the retired A.V.M. sent each of the girls a rosebud buttonhole and boxes of chocolates.

MAYOR PERCY GEORGE visited the Legislature's standing committee on private bills Wednesday to take up new legislation for the city with the members.

The chief magistrate went away with more than he brought. In addition to words of optimism for the change in the city's private act he sought, Mayor George carried back to City Hall a material possession.

He was presented with a painting which gave him a hearty chuckle. But he'll have to smuggle it past tourist promoter George I. Warren.

The painting, by a Duncan artist and presented by Andrew Whisker, the Cowichan-Newcastle member, showed tourists on snow shoes approaching "the city of gardens" followed by "those" birds, each wearing snug mufflers.

Bitten By Spider, Officer May Die Despite Antidote

BANANA RIVER, Fla. (UP)—Air Force doctors waited anxiously today to see what effect a "mercy-flown" poison antidote would have on an officer bitten by a dread black widow spider.

Maj. Ralph Suggs, 32-year-old Goodman, Mo., weather officer at the guided missile base under construction here, fell asleep in temporary relief from fever and pain after he had received the first injection Tuesday night.

An airplane rushed the drug nearly 500 miles from Marietta, Georgia.

Suggs said he knew he had been bitten on the head Sunday. But he thought the bite a minor one until the spot began swelling and fever spread through his body.

Black widow spiders, while not as deadly as rattlesnakes, are believed to be the most dangerous of insects. They are rare, however, even in semi-tropical Florida.

A Bronx Zoo official said in New York that approximately four per cent of "typical" black widow bite victims die.

By ART STOTT

LAST YEAR two young Englishmen sailed a small boat across the Atlantic and back to the Isle of Wight. At the time the trip seemed to show the same spirit that sent Christopher Columbus, Lief Erikson, and the Cabots across.

If you ask travel agents about chances to spend the summer vacation in Britain this year, you may see the young Englishmen's feat in a different light. Maybe they just wanted to make a visit. And maybe that was the only way they could do it.

It's not impossible to get to Britain this summer. You can still fly and, if you're lucky, you may get passage on a dormitory ship. You might even pick up a cancellation for one of the large luxury vessels.

IF YOU WANT everything cut and dried, comfortable berths assured for yourself and your wife, better book passage now for the Festival of Britain in 1951. Lots of people are doing it.

"It's this way," says Eric Marshall, "the Cunard line has made bookings for the summer season for those who made their reservations before last May."

He flips out a stack of letters from a man and wife with two children who applied last July 30 to go to England next June. The last note is from the husband. He's hoping to get to Britain next summer, even though he'd like to go four months from now.

"The people who requested transportation for the 1950 peak season as early as last September and October just can't get space this year at all," Marshall says.

"As far as June, July or August are concerned," he adds, "you can fly, or you can go over on the Samaria—that's austerly with dormitory accommodation—or you may catch a passenger-freighter through the Panama. But if you go by ship, you don't know how or when you're going to get back."

R. J. BURLAND, C.P.R., is not quite so pessimistic. "Everybody wants to go in April, May or June. But they all seem to want to come back in late August or September. That makes it hard during that period. There are odd berths for single persons, but families..."

The weight of the summer business has spilled over into off season travel. Bookings up to the middle of April are heavier than they ever were. More people with time to spare are going early and staying late. That's fine for retired folk. But it doesn't solve the problem for people who plan an ambitious trans-Atlantic summer vacation.

THE AIR ROUTE stays open, though. Ron Williams, T.C.A., says there shouldn't be much difficulty by plane. Reservations a month ahead are usually good enough even for June, July and August.

Right now over half of all first class passengers crossing the Atlantic are traveling by plane. That keeps about 20 aircraft over the ocean all the time.

A surprising number of Victorians want to make the jaunt to Europe and have the money to pay for it. But the majority here will look for something more modest.

The heavy holiday travel this year will probably swing north and south again, with California rating tops and Alaska not far behind. Limited space makes the west coast trip up Vancouver Island a high priority affair.

THERE'S A CATCH in the California journey, too. Canadians are still allowed only $150 American a head. When they've paid for meals, tips and incidentals in train or bus travel, they find their U.S. funds a bit sickly.

Taking it by and large, it looks as if this will be another good year to see B.C. New roads and the best scenery of its kind in the world shouldn't make holidays close to home too much of a hardship.

By boat and train the P.G.E. trip looks a good bet for Victorians who don't want to drive. It'll probably look even better after income tax time.

WHEN THAT TEARFUL long envelope has been mailed to the District Income Tax Office, Vancouver, B.C., you may be ready to settle for a vacation at home.

It could be worse. The parks branch of the B.C. Forest Service has been doing more work at Little Qualicum Falls Park. That's good for day visitors and gives you that pioneer feeling if you throw up a tent or open a sleeping bag for an overnight stay.

It's so difficult to get to Europe this year. Hope it's a sunny summer on the beach.

Victorians Replenish Red Cross Blood Bank

Some of blood donated to blood transfusion unit displayed by Marion Munson. One hundred and seventy donors reported Wednesday at clinic at Canadian Legion's Britannia Branch. S. L. Blanchard, Richard Payne got donors' buttons, certificates of thanks for 20 donations.

Although only short time is required for donors to give blood, much work by Red Cross workers is needed to ascertain blood-type, group it and file reports for each pint received. Mary Sailes, left, has blood sample taken to be grouped by transfusion service workers Joy Donegani, centre, and Mildred Dietrich. Blood clinic was open Wednesday and today to collect 500 pints for blood bank.

OPPOSE INCORPORATION OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS' GROUP

The B.C. Institute of Chartered Accountants today voiced strong objection before the Legislature's standing committee on private

Fruit Growers Ask Insurance On Hail Losses

The B.C. Fruit Growers' Association today sought before the Legislature's standing committee on private bills acceptance of legislation authorizing formation of an insurance company by Okanagan growers to allow mutual sharing of loss of crops from hail.

R. J. McMaster, Vancouver, presented the fruit growers' case. No outside objection was raised. Mr. McMaster said hail insurance was now being written by private companies as a sideline or a courtesy. Only $500,000 of a $22,000,000 crop in the Okanagan two years ago was covered by hail insurance, he said.

The Fruit Growers' Association would limit coverage by the new company, to be known as the B.C. Fruit Growers' Mutual Hail Insurance Company, to members only, at least until such time as the company had accumulated a substantial reserve.

City Red Cross Campaign Reaches Sixth Of Quota

Collections in the Greater Victoria area passed the $10,000 mark today, officials of the Canadian Red Cross Society here reported early this afternoon.

Latest totals placed the month-long drive to within five-sixths of the $65,000 quota for the district. Canvassers are working to boost collections over the quota mark by March 31.

Red Cross provincial campaign headquarters in Vancouver reported satisfactory progress in the returns from B.C.

Donations compared with the previous year's drive, Hon. E. W. Hamber, B.C. campaign chairman, stated.

The province's quota in the $5,000,000 Dominion drive is $500,000. Funds are urgently needed to carry on the peacetime program of the society, which includes free blood transfusion service, outpatient hospital maintenance, veterans' services, disaster services, swimming safety instruction, first aid and home nursing.

BRITISH TRIPS FULLY BOOKED FOR YEAR

Unless you started making reservations around the middle of last year, your chances for a trip to Britain by ship this year are practically nil.

Shipping agents in the city report the only hope of getting a stateroom on a trans-Atlantic liner nowadays is if you should happen to be lucky enough to get the nod on a cancellation.

One agent has nearly 500 persons booked to cross "the pond" between now and the end of the year.

Reservations are being taken for 1951, and wiser would-be travelers who were disappointed when they tried too late to obtain passage this summer are now planning to visit Britain and Europe at that time.

Army Sergeant To Be Tried On Theft Charge

Gordon Ketttridge, reserve army sergeant from Port Arthur, at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing, was committed for trial by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on a charge of robbery with violence.

The soldier is alleged to have struck Lottie Reiher, young Victoria girl, and then run off with her purse, which contained no money, in the early hours of last Saturday morning.

The bespectacled, mustached sergeant is an overseas army veteran of the Second World War. He was on a gunnery practice course here.

Miss Reiher said she met Ketttridge at the C.A.C. dance and that he took her home. She said that when she refused to allow him to kiss her he struck her. Miss Reiher said she let him kiss her after that so that she would not be struck again.

DROPPED PURSE

She said that, in her struggle to get in the back door and upstairs to her room, she dropped her purse. She said she was frightened. She identified the purse and contents found as her property.

Miss Reiher said Ketttridge was drunk.

NORWEGIAN OR CANADIAN?

Children's Nationality Gives Mother Problem

Two children, one a Norwegian and the other a Canadian, watched their mother, who served in the Battle of the Atlantic during the war, apply for Canadian citizenship in County Court today.

She was Mrs. O. H. Henrickson of Sidney, born of English parentage in Shanghai, China, and married to a Norwegian ship's engineer now living in Victoria. The young mother met her husband while serving as a wireless operator aboard a Norwegian tanker during the war.

"If I become a Canadian, what does my child who was born in Norway become?" Mrs. Henrickson asked Judge H. H. Shandley. The judge pondered the question.

Survey Planned Of City Police

Mayor To Call Meeting Of Commissioners On Problem

Belief there is room for review of the entire police situation, with particular reference to the balance between traffic squad and regular force, was expressed today by Mayor Percy George.

If Commissioner James E. Neely has arrived back in town by Friday, His Worship will call a special private meeting of the board of police commissioners, Acting Police Chief Harry Mercer, and Sgt. Brooke Douglass, head of the traffic section, to give the matter "an airing."

When asked if the city police force had been sacrificed at the expense of the new traffic division which takes approximately one-third of the entire force, Mayor George replied:

"I do not know. The police force is understaffed and overstuffed but it does not and never has looked logical to me to assign one-third of your available force to any particular division, such as traffic, for example."

"NOT EXPERTS" "As a layman I cannot say. The police commissioners are not experts. We look to our department heads to run the department and I hope the day never comes when anybody else but the chief and senior staff are held responsible. The commissioners are there to legislate."

When asked whether there was dissension in the force, he said he did not know.

When asked whether or not an additional 25 men would be required to bring the regular force up to the strength it had before the traffic squad came into existence last fall, Mayor George replied:

"I have never been assured by the chiefs that it was necessary to replace the 25 men taken for the traffic squad. I have asked that and been told things were all right up to a point."

He said the police chief was in a paradoxical position in that the board of commissioners ordered that no additional police be taken on the force. The order was to keep costs down.

The police chief, he felt, was in the position of being able to manage without more men but could do with them.

WANTS PROOF

"You can't run a thing without a trial," he continued. "I don't want to see the traffic squad abolished, but the department must prove to me that it is necessary to have 25 men in traffic in this city before we put any more men on the regular force."

As mayor and chairman of the board of police commissioners, His Worship is faced with taxpayers, irate over the high mill rate.

"It would be the easiest thing in the world to put on more men and disregard the taxes."

The traffic department was okayed by the board on recommendation of ex-Police Chief J. A. McLellan, now retired. At the time it was known it would take 25 men to handle the work but it was the commission's understanding that members of the traffic force were at the disposal of the remainder of the force for general police work.

There has been complaint from some quarters that traffic men are not at the disposal of the general force.

"Every consideration should be given to Acting Chief Mercer," said Mayor George. "He is in the position of handling something instituted by another man, and while his own senior, Chief J. D. Blackstock, is on course."

"Are You Safe at Home?" a National Film Board sound movie illustrating how fire can be caused by simple carelessness in the home, and death through fear, panic or lack of rudimentary knowledge of fire-fighting by the home owner was shown in conjunction with Chief Brindle's address.

City Market Place Presents
Tempting Array 'Good Eats'

By PENNY SAVER

This may be the "in-between season" for everything from clothes to vegetables but our market still proves one of the most fascinating buying-places in the city.

Somewhat, purchasing my wares in a market place always makes me feel that I'm visiting a distant land—say a bazaar in India, where every article offers hidden mystery. Possibly, the reason for this "fatal" fascination for markets stems from the fact that each product comes from a bright sun-drenched field or the warmth of someone's large comfortable kitchen.

The range of articles, home-grown or home-made, that are set out for you to view, is amazing. From doll clothes and Devonshire cream to hamburger and humbugs!

Being a candy kid, myself, I find it extremely difficult to pass those fresh hand-rolled chocolates in a stall close to the front entrance. The assorted chocolates sell for 35 cents for half a pound. And the mixed candy tray, my dear! For 39 cents you can take home a bag that will include fudge, jellies, caramels, Edinburgh rock and heaven knows what else. Chewy-butterscotch slabs, about five inches long and three inches wide, sell for as little as 18 cents. The little 10-cent cellophane packages of fudge, jellies, peanut brittle and chocolates are real tempters.

The Devonshire cream, mentioned above, in 30-cent cartons, goes over the counter from clerk to customer as fast as your new sombrero from your head to the mud puddle across the street.

Delicious home-made cakes such as Dundee cakes or mixed fruit, Madeira, currant, date and sultana, are sold for 50 cents a pound. But should you prefer to buy an individual mould you'll get almost a pound and a half for your 50 pennies.

Just Out!

BABY'S CRY
IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. For the feverish distress due to gas or stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets, give Baby's Own Tablets at once. Mrs. May Mundy, of Toronto, finds they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little fussy and I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for constipation, upset stomach, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies. Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleep" stuff—no drowsy effect. Get a package today. Sickens often strikes in the night. 29 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Oh, and Mabel, if you could have seen the Scotch shortbread! Made with pure butter, no less, it's the kind of shortbread that would simply melt away in your mouth after the first bite. What a wonderful way to spend 25 cents!

Fresh white leeks with their grassy-green tops are sold in bunches to the tune of 10 cents. . . . rhubarb, thick, sturdy stalks at 25 cents a bunch . . . yellow Danver onions at four pounds for 25 cents.

By the way, the market is open only on Wednesday and Saturday so don't trudge down there today.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

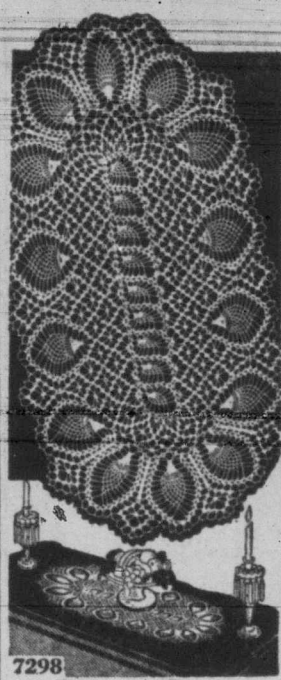

There is a marked change in emphasis on the subject of constipation. It used to be taken for granted that children must have a daily movement or else something would be done to promote one. The first advice given the mother of a sick child was to "See that he has a good movement!"

All that has changed. The present day attitude is that if the diet is proper and the child gaining as expected, the intestines will do their work in their own good time.

Nursing babies can go from one to three days without a movement and still pass a soft stool. If the stools are dry and hard and especially if the baby is artificially fed, then some change should be made in the ingredients of the formula. But, the idea that a laxative is necessary to stimulate a daily movement is being abandoned. (Read any modern book on child care to confirm this.)

Our leaflet No. 53 "Types of Stools and Constipation," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

Brief, Shirred
Blouse Makes
Summer Debut

Something new in the way of blouses, is the jigger model, completely shirred from low, squared neckline and brief sleeves, to snug waistline.

Made from combed cotton, interlocked with celanese, it is as washable as a hanky, and durable as the hardest wearing play togs.

In the accompanying picture it is teamed with a flared, buttoned-all-down-the-back skirt of regatta faded blue denim, with deep rancho pockets trimmed with hand-braid.

This ensemble is reaching an all-time high in popularity with our California neighbors where its design was originated, and come spring and summer, will be displayed in local stores.

That color-matched look will be important with Easter outfits.

For instance, pink is being used as an accent for pink, yellow for yellow, blue for blue, etc.

Sometimes the colors are perfectly matched, but often accessories are featured in different color tones, giving a new, different effect.

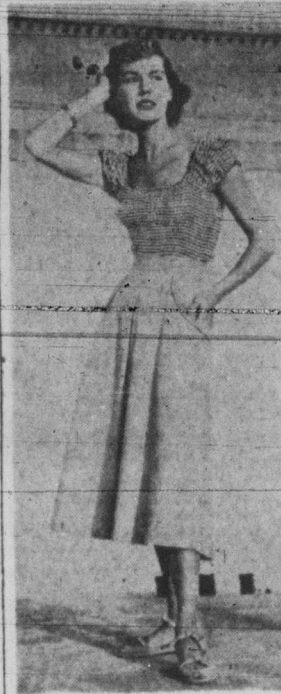

Blonde and auburn tones are being favored this season. These are shown with natural colored linen and shantung dresses.

A fashionable note in accessories, too, is the straw handbag which will complement straw or wheat-colored gloves in fabric and leather.

Novelty gloves are more important than ever with designs in tufts, stitching, contrasting cuffs, tricky ruffled edges.

Short furs, namely the little, huggie-tight cape jacket, are the fur silhouettes for spring.

These cape-jackets are shown in mink and other striped furs.

Summer's Darling

Abbreviated capelets—about 18 inches—will also make their debut and many will feature Peter Pan or winged collars.

Slimmer jackets are important for furs such as American broadtail, Russian broadtail, caracul and moleskin. These jackets, too, are short and all have tiny collars and straight, cuffed sleeves.

Keeping posted on fabrics?

One of the newest materials to come from a Canadian manufacturer is a combination of rayon and combed cotton which gives a unique corded effect.

It is cool, crisp and light in weight and is manufactured in four varieties, miracord, linacord, unircord, tricord. All are hand washable, crease resistant and water repellent.

Another newcomer is zephyr-check, a novelty sheer. It is shown in shepherd checks of all kinds. Colors featured are dark summer shades with white, navy with white, black with white.

The fabric will be shown in higher-priced dresses and blouses.

Miss Gloria Sanders, R.N., teacher of St. Joseph's School of Nursing; Miss Veronica Jackson, president of Student Council, and Miss Beth Tonks, medical technologist student, covered aspects of the nursing profession, and technician courses when they spoke to students at Victoria High School.

The affair was arranged by vocational guidance teacher and a question and answer period held.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: In the Eternal Triangle it isn't the wife who suffers the most and who goes through the tortures of hell. It is the Other Woman. I know from experience. The man will promise no matter what happens to always love and protect you but when the time comes when he is tired of you he will betray you. He will take everything you have to give, and leave you with a broken home and a broken heart. Dorothy Dix, isn't there some word you can send out that will save some girl from the wreck I have made of my life?

THE OTHER WOMAN.

Answer: It seems to me that I spend half my time in broadcasting warnings through this column to girls about the danger they run in having affairs with married men. But still each girl believes her case to be different from all others, and that for once a liaison is going to last and be enduring. They still fall for the old line about the wife who does not understand, about the unhappy home, about the heart starving for affection.

TODAY'S RECIPE

HONEY CUSTARD

One quarter teaspoon salt, 3 eggs (slightly beaten), 1/4 cup honey, 2 cups milk (scalded), nutmeg.

Beat eggs and salt slightly. Combine hot milk to honey, add slowly to eggs. Pour in custard cups. Dust over with nutmeg. Set in hot water and bake at 325 deg. for 40 minutes, or until a silver knife comes out of centre, clean. For variety—add one cup coconut and one teaspoon vanilla. Omit nutmeg.

Breads, cakes and cookies made with honey remain moist longer than when sugar is used.

Beauty Expert
Names Canadian
"Most Beautiful"

"The women of western Canada are among the most naturally beautiful in the world," says Gwen Foster, a Canadian girl who calls Toronto her home.

Having recently returned from an extended tour of beauty studies in England at the Yardley Beauty Salon in Old Bond Street, London, Miss Foster urges women who are beauty conscious to "highlight their natural loveliness."

"When you make-up," she continued, "be sure not to overdo it." Stressing the importance of this point, Miss Foster continued, "make-up should be chosen for the individual skin type and should blend with the type and clothing being worn on the occasion."

At present spending a few days in Victoria, Miss Foster conducted a school for beauty at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday. These classes were attended by 31 members of various Victoria and up-Island stores selling cosmetics to the public.

These schools have been held in Canada from coast to coast beginning in Newfoundland last fall and ending here in Victoria. They have been attended by over 1,200 women.

Cheap Atomic Detectors

Two inexpensive and accurate radiation detectors which have been developed by the University of California work by evidencing a color change when exposed to such rays as come from fluorescences, X-ray machines and atomic explosions. The devices come in two convenient plastic shapes. They are designed to be worn around the neck and like a pencil clipped to a pocket.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

HERE'S HOW TO USE THE DOUBLE COUP

This is the fourth of a series of articles on trump coups. A double coup is no more complicated than a single coup, once you understand the principle of what you have to do to make the coup. Briefly, you shorten yourself in trump, so that eventually the opponent with the long trumps will have to trump in, and you can overtrump.

In today's hand declarer was fortunate to be able to win the opening lead of the six of diamonds in dummy with the jack. A heart was led and the finesse taken. When it held declarer returned the jack of spades. East covered with the queen and dummy's king won. Now the second heart finesse was taken. East showing out.

At this point declarer cashed the king of diamonds, then led

♠ J6	♥ A Q J 9 5 2	♦ A K 4	♣ 7 3
♠ 7 3 2	♥ K 7 6 3	♦ 9 7	♣ J 9 5 4
♠ 9 8 4	♥ 10	♦ Q 10 8 6	♣ 8 6 2
♠ A K 10 5	♥ 8 4	♦ J 5 3	♣ A K Q 10
♠ 8 4	♥ 7 3	♦ 2	♣ 9
♠ 7	♥ 6	♦ A	♣ 8

the six of spades, winning in dummy with the 10-spot. On the ace of spades North threw away his ace of diamonds.

Now, in order to shorten himself down, declarer led the five of spades from dummy. West refused to trump, so North trumped with the deuce of hearts. His next play was the seven of clubs, which he won in dummy with the ace.

He trumped the five of diamonds with the five of hearts, shortening himself down another trump. The three of clubs was won in dummy with the king and the queen of clubs led.

West was forced to trump with the seven or king of hearts. Declarer, who had shortened himself down to the ace and nine, could overtrump West and pick up the last trump.

No Large Food Surpluses For Export From Canada

Gardiner Explains 1950 Position To Commons; Says Opposition Gets Needlessly Excited

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1949 general election campaign echoed through the Commons Wednesday.

It was injected into the Throne-Speech debate, now in its third week, as the government's agricultural policies swung between defence and attack in a noisy verbal battle between Agriculture Minister Gardiner and opposition members.

Mr. Gardiner, defending those policies, repeated previous assertions that Canada has no large food surpluses available for export. He said that farmers would not lose money through government moves to balance trade and chided opposition members for their small representation in Parliament.

He came up against two opposition speakers in the short three-hour afternoon sitting—Dr. W. G. Blair (P.C.-Lanark, Ont.), who plumped for larger markets for Canadian cheese, and C. E. Johnston (S.C.-Bow River, Alta.), who charged farmers had been bribed into voting Liberal last year with their own money.

INTERJECTIONS

He also met, periodically, through his 50-minute speech, a confusing hubbub of half-heard interjections as opposition members took issue with him on the points he was making.

Mr. Gardiner said he had entered the debate to make clear that western farmers would not lose anything through the government's action in inducing the British government to divert available funds from wheat to pork, lumber and fish products. If there was any loss—and he did not think there would be—it would be made up out of the federal treasury.

As for talk of food surpluses, Canada had only small surpluses of cheese, butter and honey, said Mr. Gardiner. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations had asked Canada to catalogue her surpluses only last week and he would hesitate to say large surpluses were available.

Shouting to make himself heard, Mr. Gardiner said opposition members were getting "excited" because Canada had a "little surplus of cheese, a little surplus of butter and a little surplus of honey."

RECALLS 1930's

"If they were in power, we would be back to the old unemployment position we were in in the 1930's," said the minister amid applause from Liberal supporters, who drowned out the interjections of opposition members.

A year ago opposition members were insisting that there had to be 10,000,000 pounds of butter distributed over Canada "in order to make it possible for people to eat butter at the end of the year."

"We are not going to have much more than that by the time we get to the end of the year," said Mr. Gardiner.

CHIEF URGES USE OF LASH

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harried by this city's worst rash of petty crimes, Police Chief Walter Mulligan has hinted that use of the lash might be a solution.

Car thieves were the worst offenders during the last month, Chief Mulligan said. More than 300 cars were stolen in February.

"I think when a thing like this becomes an epidemic," he said, "the answer is punishment. I think that is what is required now."

Langford Club Elects Officers

LANGFORD—A. S. Gorst was elected president of the Langford Community Club at the annual meeting held here. G. W. Cooper was elected vice-president; E. A. Williamson, secretary-treasurer; W. Wilson, H. W. McKenzie, J. Massey and Mrs. R. Bayles, directors.

Committee members elected were: Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. B. Wilson and Mrs. T. Rankin, ways and means committee; Mrs. H. E. Hinks, Mrs. A. F. Bayles, Mrs. E. F. LeQuenne, Mrs. C. W. Armstrong, Mrs. H. P. Goodman, Mrs. A. Turner, social committee; Patrick Strachan, auditor.

Negro Chief, Uncle Exiled From People For 5 Years

LONDON (CP)—The government has announced both Seretse Khama, Oxford-educated negro chief of a Bechuanaland tribe, and his uncle who aspired to the chieftainship, have been exiled from their people for at least five years.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill and Liberal Leader Clement Davies, in the House of Commons, both criticized the handling of the case.

The 27-year-old Seretse said he will defy the order.

Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth relations secretary, announced in the House the decision to exile Seretse, who married a white woman, and his uncle, Tshekedi Khama. The elderly Tshekedi was strongly opposed to his nephew becoming chief.

Gordon-Walker said the British district commissioner will supervise administration of the tribe, the Bamangwatos, for the "immediate future." A council of Africans will be set up later to assume control of the 100,000 Bamangwatos, largest tribe in the protectorate.

Seretse said in an interview: "I intend to go back. . . . In a matter of days, I shall return by air but whether I shall be allowed to enter my territory I do not know."

The young chief disclosed Monday that he would not be allowed to return for five years. He charged the British invitation to him last month to come to London for a discussion of his status was a trick.

"Why don't they let me return?" he asked. "The people want me."

In Serowa, clay-hut capital of the tribe, Seretse's wife, Ruth

Asks Arbitration In Union Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stewart Alsbury, British Columbia district president of the International Woodworkers of America, reports the Labor Relations Board will be asked to decide on a jurisdictional dispute between the I.W.A. and the A.F.L. International Union of Operating Engineers.

The I.W.A. is asking a hearing before the board to protest certification being granted the A.F.L. union for steam plant employees at operations where the I.W.A. holds an industrial certification.

This action follows a vote at two Vancouver Island plants where the two unions split the results of certification votes.

Joined Twins Shock Father

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Erskine Smith, father of girl "Siamese twins" born last week with the top of their heads joined, said Wednesday "he would rather have seen them die at birth than grow up like they are."

Erskine, a timberman and father of five other children, told reporters he had seen the twins in the hospital at Wynard town, Tasmania, where they were born.

"It was a frightful shock," he said.

"Dr. John Starr, who delivered the twins, said they were perfectly healthy and the rest of their bodies were normal. He added, however, that if would be "practically impossible to separate them."

"I cannot see that they can be severed and remain alive," he declared.

The babies are joined head to head at the top of the skull "as if you stood one head first on the other," the doctor explained.

Victoria Daily Times 17
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1950

The father said he hoped to take the twins to Melbourne or Sydney for possible treatment.

"If just one of them could be saved without anything happening, I would like it," the father said.
